EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

- Global equities advanced WoW, led by STOXX 600 (▲2.66%) and S&P 500 (▲1.76%), as easing US-Iran hostilities and soft June payrolls curbed Fed rate-hike expectations across major markets.
- The NGX ASI fell ▼1.21% WoW to 229,240.34 (+47.31% YTD) on ₦154.39bn turnover, underperforming Kenya's NSE (▲2.14%) as FTSE Russell's reclassification pause weighed on sentiment.
- The Main Board Index (▲2.27%) diverged sharply from Industrial Goods (▼4.93%), while Airtel Africa surged ▲21.00% to ₦5,274.00 on Bharti Airtel's $3.4bn stake increase to ~79%.
- The naira firmed ▲0.62% to ₦1,368.37 officially as reserves hit a 17-year high of $51.46bn, though May CPI accelerated to 15.93% YoY, a third consecutive monthly rise.
- Friday's ▲2.19% rebound (₦3.16tn added) suggests a tactically important week, but the CBN's ₦5.8tn Q3 T-bill programme and the 8 Jul auction remain the key liquidity risk to equities.

Market Outlook — Coming Week

- Banking remains the swing factor: Friday's rebound was anchored by a 93% surge in banking trading value to ₦26.9bn, and with Zenith at 8.0x and imminent H1 interim dividend announcements competing against 17.34% one-year T-bill stops, the sector will provide an important test of whether the recent recovery can be sustained or whether momentum shifts back toward fixed income — Wednesday's 8 Jul ₦700bn NTB auction is the first liquidity test.
- Friday's ▲2.19% single-session recovery (₦3.16tn added, breadth flipping to 39 advancers vs 14 decliners) suggests a tactical floor near the 227,500–228,000 support zone, but July's seasonal record (16 losing Julys in 30 years) and the ₦5.8tn Q3 T-bill programme argue against chasing strength above the 232,000–233,500 resistance band.
- Oil & Gas (+82.04% YTD) offers a buy-the-dip window after its ▼4.34% WoW pullback, with Aradel's 9 Jul dividend qualification (₦23.00 final) a near-term support catalyst for the counter after repeated limit-downs; Telecoms stay the defensive anchor, with Airtel's Bharti-driven re-rating (+132% YTD) and MTNN's Agusto Aaa upgrade providing idiosyncratic cover.
- Key calendar items: the 8 Jul NTB auction (~₦700bn) sets the yield backdrop; the mid-July NBS June CPI print tests the disinflation thesis after three consecutive accelerations to 15.93%; and the 20–21 Jul MPC meeting (consensus hold at 26.50%) frames the rate path — while FTSE Russell's end-August reclassification verdict remains the structural overhang keeping foreign participation at 9.45% of turnover.

Global Markets Commentary

- Global equities advanced WoW, led by STOXX 600 (▲2.66%) and S&P 500 (▲1.76%), as easing US-Iran hostilities and a softer-than-expected June payrolls report curbed Fed rate-hike bets, though tech-led profit-taking capped late-week gains.
- KOSPI fell sharply WoW (▼3.84%) and MoM (▼6.38%), the steepest weekly and monthly decline among majors, despite a YTD gain of +91.93% and proximity to its 52-week high of 9,114.55.The KOSPI declined due to a broad sell-off in heavyweight semiconductor and technology stocks following an industry-wide reassessment of AI valuations.
- Nikkei 225 rose modestly WoW (▲0.55%) to 69,744.07, extending a YTD rally of +38.55% and holding near its 52-week high of 72,366.34, as Asian markets broadly tracked the risk-on tone from Wall Street.
- Europe outpaced the US on a MoM basis, with STOXX 600 up +5.08% versus the S&P 500's ▼1.66% MoM decline, as Fed rate uncertainty and a tech-sector pullback weighed on US equities through June.

Frontier Africa Commentary

- Kenya's NSE All Share led African markets WoW (▲2.14%) and MoM (▲9.16%) to 227.17, buoyed by Vodacom's $2.1bn buyout lifting its Safaricom stake to 55%; Egypt's EGX 30 was weakest, falling ▼1.77% WoW to 50,532.70 driven primarily by profit-taking.
- Nigeria's NGX ASI slipped ▼1.21% WoW and ▼5.71% MoM to 2,29,240.34 despite a +47.31% YTD gain, as FTSE Russell placed its Frontier Market upgrade under further review over T+1 settlement concerns, denting sentiment.
- African currencies broadly firmed against the dollar WoW, led by the Egyptian pound (▲0.87%) and rand (▲1.14%), while Nigeria's naira diverged: the official rate strengthened to ₦1,368.37 as the parallel rate weakened to ₦1,410.00, widening the spread to ₦41.63.
- Nigeria's Q1 2026 trade surplus surged 340.88% QoQ to ₦7.55tn, driven by an 11.63% rise in exports and a 21.05% drop in imports, underscoring improving external accounts even as the NGX ASI underperformed regional peers WoW.

Market Snapshot Commentary

- The NGX All-Share Index fell ▼1.21% WoW to 229,240.34, a modest deceleration from the prior week's ▼1.65% decline, as market capitalisation contracted by ₦1.80tn to ₦147.10tn. YTD returns eased to +47.31% from +49.12%, marking a second consecutive week of moderation in the index's 2026 rally.
- Breadth remained negative but improved marginally: decliners fell to 57 from 64 and advancers to 22 from 25, leaving the Advance/Decline ratio flat at 0.39x. Total volume traded declined 1.85% WoW to 3.821bn shares from 3.893bn, while total value traded fell more sharply, down 18.83% to ₦154.39bn from ₦190.20bn. Deal count rose to 258,567 from 249,328 (+9,239), an unusual combination of higher activity against lower turnover value driven by aggressive retail investor profit-taking in low-priced stocks, alongside a sharp institutional pull-out from high-priced, large-cap equities.
- The index's 52-week high (252,508.19) and low (111,606.22) were unchanged WoW, with the ASI now tracking roughly 9.2% below its 52-week peak, underscoring the loss of upward momentum from earlier in the year.

Market Snapshot Commentary

- The NGX Industrial Goods Index was the week's worst performer, falling ▼4.93% WoW (MoM ▼4.57%) to 9,698.31, as Dangote Cement and BUA Cement extended their run of maximum daily declines amid broad profit-taking following the sector's exceptional Q1-Q2 rally.
- The NGX Main Board Index led gains, rising ▲2.27% WoW to 10,895.94, even as the NGX 30 Index (large-cap benchmark) fell ▼1.09%, pointing to rotation out of index heavyweights into mid- and small-cap counters.
- Banking (▼3.72% WoW) and Oil & Gas (▼4.34% WoW) also weighed on the broader tape, pressured by recapitalization-driven selling in Zenith Bank, FCMB, and GTCO, alongside Aradel Holdings' repeated 10% daily limit-downs.
- Watch for continued rotation into Main Board/value names as large-cap profit-taking persists into Q2 earnings season.

Market Movers Commentary

- AIRTELAFRI surged ▲21.00% to ₦5,274.00 on heavy value traded of ₦58.24bn, tracking Bharti Airtel's $3.4bn cashless share-swap that lifted its stake to ~79% and supported market expectations of a ~$10bn long-term valuation.
- FTGINSURE's ▲225.25% surge was driven by a major corporate share capital reconstruction exercise. This corporate action mathematically reduced the number of shares in circulation, forcing a proportional, dramatic increase in the individual share price when trading resumed.
- Aradel Holdings hit its 10% daily limit-down again, closing most-active-by-value, extending the large-cap profit-taking rotation that has weighed on Industrial Goods and Oil & Gas all week.

Large-Cap Watch List

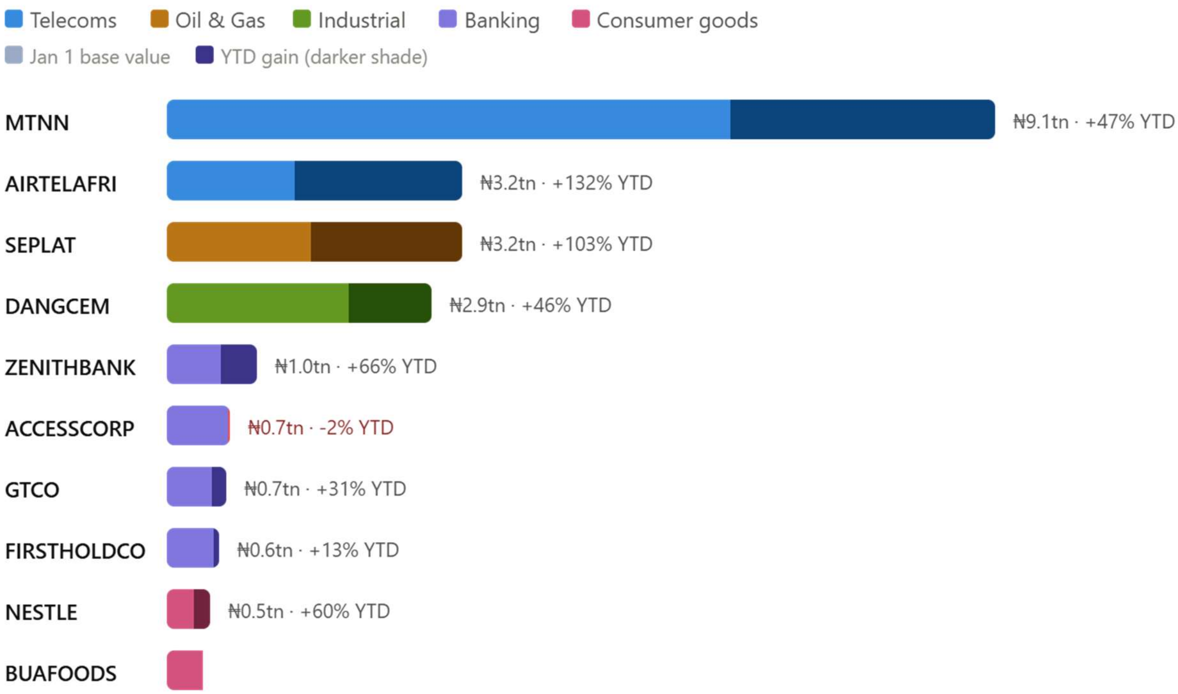
Ticker	Close (₦)	Prev Close	WoW %	Weekly Vol	YTD %	P/E	Analyst Note
MTNN	750	830	▼9.64%	29,183,748	+47%	n/m	Valuation: trailing P/E of 73,702.8x is non-meaningful (near-zero trailing EPS base); await FY26 results for a usable multiple. Catalyst: Agusto & Co. Aaa upgrade (1 Jul) and tariff-driven earnings recovery. Risk: Monday's 10% limit-down (₦830 → ₦747) shows index-heavy positioning risk persists despite the partial recovery to ₦750.00.
GTCO	121	128	▼5.43%	89,447,364	+31%	17	Valuation: reasonable vs Tier-1 peers at 17.0x. Catalyst: H1 interim dividend announcement expected this month. Risk: recapitalisation-driven rotation — the stock gave back most of the prior week's +10.69% rebound.
DANGCEM	891	~964.33	~▼7.6%	6,493,442	+46%	n/m	Valuation: trailing P/E of 1,416.7x is non-meaningful (distorted earnings base); not representative of underlying cash generation. Catalyst: ₦45.00 final dividend paid 2 Jul; LSE secondary listing approved at AGM. Risk: 1 Jul session alone fell 7.48%; Industrial Goods remains under the heaviest unwinding pressure. [CHECK: prior close implied via Premium Index reconciliation — verify vs 26 Jun Daily Official List]
ACCESSCORP	23	23	▲0.22%	471,514,759	-2%	8	Valuation: joint-cheapest Tier-1 bank at 8.0x trailing. Catalyst: H1 interim dividend season; deep liquidity (471.5m shares weekly). Risk: YTD laggard at -2% despite the capital raise; needs an earnings surprise to re-rate.
BUAFOODS	939	939.00	0.00%	402,010	+18%	n/a	Valuation: no reported P/E in the 3 Jul NGX file. Catalyst: FY2025 beat (PAT +94.88% YoY) and ₦28.00 final dividend paying 15 Jul. Risk: thin free float (402k shares traded weekly) — price signals are unreliable week-to-week.
AIRTELAFRI	5,274	4,359	▲21.00%	463,038	+132%	n/a	Valuation: no reported P/E in the 3 Jul NGX file. Catalyst: Bharti Airtel's $3.4bn share swap lifting its stake to ~79%, supporting market expectations of a ~$10bn long-run revenue ambition. Risk: the week's entire gain is event-driven; thin local float amplifies both directions.
ZENITHBANK	107	115	▼7.13%	163,783,597	+66%	8	Valuation: joint-cheapest Tier-1 at 8.0x, still below book. Catalyst: H1 interim dividend expected; led Friday's banking-value surge. Risk: recapitalisation jitters — fell 4.50% on Wednesday alone before the Friday recovery.
FIRSTHOLDCO	55	61	▼9.09%	45,325,752	+13%	24	Valuation: premium to Tier-1 peers at 23.6x on the FBN turnaround narrative. Catalyst: H1 results as the next proof point. Risk: the premium is being tested — second-worst WoW in the list after MTNN.
NESTLE	3,125	3,125	0.00%	195,185	+60%	76	Valuation: rich at 75.7x, priced for sustained margin recovery. Catalyst: none near-term. Risk: stretched vs historical range; low liquidity (195k shares weekly) means the flat print reflects inactivity, not stability.
SEPLAT	11,364	11,364	0.00%	411,851	+103%	53	Valuation: demanding at 53.4x after the upstream re-rating. Catalyst: FX-hedged earnings and Bonny Light at $72.80. Risk: Brent easing to $71.53 and sector profit-taking (Oil & Gas ▼4.34% WoW) argue against a durable near-term re-rating.

Market Movers Commentary

- Largecaps underperformed the broader market this week: the NGX Premium Index fell ▼6.91% WoW against the ASI's ▼1.21%, with MTNN (▼9.64% to ₦750.00), FirstHoldCo (▼9.09%), Zenith Bank (▼7.13%), and Dangote Cement (~▼7.6%) all falling well beyond the index.

- Airtel Africa was the standout exception, surging ▲21.00% to ₦5,274.00 on Bharti Airtel's $3.4bn stake increase to ~79% — without it, the large-cap complex's week would have been materially worse.
- Access Holdings (▲0.22%) was the only bank to hold ground, while Nestlé, BUA Foods, and Seplat closed unchanged on negligible volume.
- Although Banking ended the week down 3.72%, Friday's rebound was led by concentrated buying in tier-one banks, with sector trading value surging 93% to ₦26.9bn — Zenith and Access, at 8.0x trailing earnings, remain the cheapest entry points into that recovery if H1 interim dividends deliver.

NGX Large Cap: Market Cap, YTD Performance and Sector



Market Movers Commentary

The sector lens this week shows the correction deepening across most large-caps, with the broad index down 1.21% WoW and YTD moderating to 47.31%:

- Telecoms (blue) — MTNN remains the largest column by a wide margin at ₦9.1tn, though its YTD gain eased sharply to +47% (from +55%) after Monday's 10% limit-down knocked the stock from above ₦830 to ₦747. Airtel Africa has overtaken Dangote Cement to become the second-largest large-cap at ₦3.2tn, with its YTD gain surging to +132% (from +92%), up +21% WoW to ₦5,274, driven by Bharti Airtel's $3.4bn stake increase to ~79%.
- Oil & Gas (amber) — Seplat sits just behind Airtel at ₦3.2tn, with its YTD gain rebounding to +103% (from +95%), flat WoW at ₦11,364; still the segment's most demanding valuation at 53x, supported by higher production and firm Brent crude prices.
- Industrial (green) — Dangote Cement has slipped to fourth by market cap (₦2.9tn) as its YTD gain compressed sharply to +46% (from +76%), flat WoW at ₦891, after repeated 10% limit-downs drove the Industrial Goods Index to a sector-worst ▼4.93% WoW.
- Banking (purple) — mixed within the group. Zenith Bank is the largest bank by cap here (₦1.0tn) with YTD easing to +66% (from +78%) despite a +4.71% WoW gain, after a rough mid-week (down 4.50% Wednesday amid recapitalization jitters). Access Holdings remains the laggard at -2% YTD despite +2.73% WoW. GTCO (+31% YTD, up from +24%) is the most reasonably valued name at 17x. First HoldCo is the smallest bank here at +13% YTD.
- Consumer goods (pink) — Nestlé (+60%) and BUA Foods (+18%) remain the two smallest columns, both unchanged WoW.

The structural signal has sharpened: Airtel's M&A-driven surge has pushed Telecoms further ahead and reshuffled the market-cap pecking order, while Industrial and parts of Banking remain the primary drags on the large-cap complex.

Macro Commentary

- The naira strengthened modestly on the official window, with USD/NGN closing at ₦1,368.37 (▲0.62% WoW, ▲5.40% YTD), while the parallel rate depreciated further to ₦1,410.00 (▲0.53% WoW), widening the official-parallel spread to ₦41.63. Against the pound and euro, the naira traded around ₦1,832/GBP and ₦1,567.52/EUR as of Friday's close, both broadly stable WoW.
- The CBN held its Monetary Policy Rate at 26.50% following the 305th MPC meeting (19–20 May); there was no MPC session this week, with the next (306th) scheduled for 20–21 Jul. Headline CPI rose to 15.93% YoY in May 2026 (released 15 Jun by the NBS), up from 15.69% in April — a third consecutive monthly acceleration, driven by food and transport costs. The FGN 10-year bond yield rose to 18.54% (from 18.34%), tracking tighter system liquidity ahead of the CBN's expanded Treasury Bills calendar.
- Brent crude eased to $71.53/bbl (▼3.00% WoW) and Bonny Light to $72.80/bbl (▼2.93% WoW), as easing Middle East supply concerns weighed on prices. Nigeria's foreign reserves rose to $51.46bn as of 30 Jun 2026 (from $50.04bn), supported by crude receipts and remittances. Gold gained to $4,174.93/oz (+$104.07), reflecting continued safe-haven demand.
- CBN action this week: announced a ₦5.8tn Q3 2026 Treasury Bills issuance programme — more than 4x the prior quarter's net target — signaling an intensified liquidity mop-up.
- Events to watch next week: CBN Treasury Bills auction, ₦700bn offer (8 Jul 2026) | NBS June 2026 CPI report, expected mid-July | CBN MPC 306th meeting (20–21 Jul 2026).

SECTION 8 | NIGERIA — MARKET METRICS & VALUATION

Valuation Metrics

Metric	Current (03 Jul 2026)	Prior Week (26 Jun 2026)	Change
Market P/E Ratio (large-cap, cap-weighted)	43.06	43.97	-0.91
Banking Sector avg P/E	17.95	10.60	+7.35
Consumer Goods avg P/E	58.25	221.76	-163.51
Oil & Gas avg P/E	36.87	35.80	+1.07
Market Dividend Yield (avg)	+3.75% (carried forward)	n/a	n/a

Methodology notes: "Market P/E" uses the NGX Main Board cap-weighted total (43.06x), which excludes the Premium Board's extreme outliers (MTNN ~73,703x; Dangote Cement ~1,416.7x). Sector averages are simple (equal-weighted) averages of constituents across all boards that carry a reported P/E, excluding any individual constituent with a P/E above 100x as a statistical outlier — consistent with the same treatment applied to the headline Market P/E figure. Banking excludes Wema Bank (681.0x) and Jaiz Bank (276.8x), both likely distorted by post-recapitalisation EPS dilution. Consumer Goods excludes Champion Breweries (1,320.9x), Guinness Nigeria (187.2x), NASCON (148.1x), Northern Nigeria Flour Mills (145.0x), P.Z. Industries (180.7x), and Unilever Nigeria (317.2x). Oil & Gas excludes TotalEnergies Marketing Nigeria (117.6x); Aradel Holdings remains excluded as it has no reported P/E. Prior Week figures are last week's Current values, rolled forward one period. Market Dividend Yield has no updated source this week and is carried forward unchanged; P/B is not derivable from the supplied NGX files.

Foreign Portfolio Investment (FPI)

Metric	Current (May-26)	Prior (Apr-26)	Trend
FPI Buy Value (₦ bn)	87.60	90.84	↓
FPI Sell Value (₦ bn)	96.01	156.94	↓
FPI Buy/Sell Ratio	0.91	0.58	↑
FPI Net Flow (₦ bn)	-8.41	-66.10	↑ (less negative)
FPI as % of Total Turnover	9.45%	13.74%	↓

Source: NGX Domestic & Foreign Portfolio Investment Report, May 2026 (published ≈ two weeks after month-end; May 2026 is now the latest available, superseding the April 2026 figures used previously). FPI values converted from ₦'Trillion to ₦'billion. Buy = foreign inflow (purchases); Sell = foreign outflow (sales/liquidation). Net Flow = inflow − outflow (negative = net foreign selling). FPI as % of total turnover uses total foreign transactions ÷ total market transactions for the month. Total foreign transactions fell to ₦0.18361tn in May (9.45% of the ₦1.94325tn market total) from ₦0.24778tn in April (13.74%), a 25.90% MoM decline in foreign activity — but the Buy/Sell Ratio improved to 0.91 from 0.58 and Net Flow improved to -₦8.41bn from -Rs66.10bn, indicating foreign investors pulled back on both buying and selling, with selling easing far more than buying.

Macro Commentary

- Banking screens cheapest at 17.95x average, with Zenith (8.0x) and Access (8.0x) trading well below the market's 43.06x large-cap proxy, while GTCO (17.0x) sits near the sector average and FirstHoldCo (23.6x) carries a turnaround premium.
- SEPLAT (53.4x) and NESTLE (75.7x) reflect growth and defensive premiums respectively.
- FPI flows improved but remain net negative: Buy ₦87.60bn vs Sell ₦96.01bn, Net -₦8.41bn (9.45% of turnover) — far less negative than April's -₦66.10bn. This signals foreign investors are stepping back from both buying and selling rather than exiting aggressively, consistent with a cautious pause rather than a renewed sell-off.

SECTION 9 | INVESTMENT THEME

Theme — Rotation Into Banks, Out of Cyclicals

OBSERVATION	The NGX closed the week ▼1.21% at 229,240.34 but staged a sharp Friday rebound (▲2.19% intraday, adding ₦3.16tn). Friday's trading value in banking names surged 93% to ₦26.9bn, while Oil & Gas sits 10.5% below its recent peak despite a +111% trailing-year run.
DRIVER	Banks are in a yield war with 364-day T-bills stopping at 17.34%, forcing aggressive dividend signaling ahead of imminent H1 interim announcements. The Q3 NTB calendar (₦5.8tn, first ₦700bn auction 8 Jul) keeps fixed-income competition acute, while T+1 settlement and extended trading hours (9:00–16:00) are concentrating fast money in the most liquid counters — banks, MTNN, and Airtel Africa.
IMPLICATION	For a short-term horizon, favor liquidity and catalysts over valuation: Zenith (8.0x) and GTCO (17.0x) offer rebound exposure with instant exit capacity; Aradel and Seplat offer buy-the-dip momentum after the 10.5% Oil & Gas pullback; MTNN/Airtel anchor downside. Avoid Industrial Goods (▼4.93% WoW, repeated 10% limit-downs in DANGCEM/BUACEMENT) and Consumer Goods — no near-term catalyst.
RISK	A hot 8 Jul T-bill auction (stop rates above ~17.5%) would siphon the liquidity underpinning the rebound trade. Disappointing or delayed H1 bank dividends, another Dangote-linked liquidity event, or an adverse FTSE Russell signal before the August verdict would reverse Friday's momentum and extend the correction into a second leg.

SECTION 10 | OUTLOOK — SECTORAL VIEWS & EVENTS TO WATCH

Sectoral Outlook — Coming Week

Sector	View	Conviction	Rationale
Banking	OW	H	Cheapest sector at 8.0x (Zenith/Access) with H1 interim dividend catalysts imminent and Friday's rebound led by a 93% surge in banking trading value, though recapitalization dilution remains a live overhang.
Consumer Goods	UW	M	Sector avg P/E of 58.25x offers no valuation support against compressed margins, ▼1.60% WoW, and a weak +14.47% YTD — no near-term catalyst visible.
Oil & Gas	OW	H	The ▼4.34% WoW pullback in the YTD leader (+82.04%) offers a tactical entry into FX-hedged earnings (Seplat 53.4x, +103% YTD), but Brent at $71.53 caps upside.
Industrial Goods	UW	H	Worst WoW performer (▼4.93%) with repeated 10% limit-downs in DANGCEM and BUACEMENT; aggressive portfolio unwinding makes near-term re-entry premature despite +70.85% YTD.
Insurance	N	M	Only sector index positive mid-week (+0.42% Wednesday) with speculative retail flows (Regal +20.25%, Sovereign Trust gains), but -8.43% YTD and thin institutional depth limit conviction.
Telco (MTN/Airtel)	OW	M	Defensive index anchor with deepest liquidity under T+1; Airtel Africa (+132% YTD, Bharti stake to ~79%) and MTNN (re-rated to 9.63x, Agusto Aaa upgrade) both carry idiosyncratic support.

OW = Overweight (expect outperformance) · N = Neutral · UW = Underweight · H/M/L = High/Medium/Low conviction

▲ BULLISH FACTORS

- Friday's ▲2.19% single-session rebound added ₦3.16tn, with breadth flipping to 39 advancers vs 14 decliners — the first clear demand signal since the correction began.
- Foreign selling has nearly stopped: May FPI net flow improved to -₦8.41bn from April's -₦66.10bn, with the Buy/Sell ratio recovering to 0.91 from 0.58.
- Reserves at a 17-year high of $51.46bn (30 Jun) plus a ₦7.55tn Q1 trade surplus (+340.88% QoQ) underpin naira stability and eventual FPI re-entry.

▼ BEARISH RISKS

- The CBN's ₦5.8tn Q3 T-bill programme (4x the prior quarter's net target) with 364-day stops at 17.34% keeps draining equity liquidity into risk-free yield.
- FTSE Russell's pause on Nigeria's Frontier Market reclassification (verdict by end-August) defers passive inflows and keeps foreign participation depressed at 9.45% of turnover.
- July is seasonally weak — 16 losing Julys in 30 years — and YTD returns have already eroded from 60.90% to 47.31%, showing momentum decay with ₦13.29tn lost in June alone.

Events to Watch — Next Week

Date	Event Type	Details & Why It Matters
8 July	CBN NTB auction, ~₦700bn offer	Stop rates above ~17.5% would intensify the fixed-income pull on bank deposits and equity flows; softer rates would support the rebound trade.
Mid-July	NBS June CPI release	A fourth consecutive acceleration above May's 15.93% would harden MPC hawkishness and pressure rate-sensitive banking and consumer names.
20–21 July	CBN MPC 306th meeting	A hold at 26.50% is consensus; any hawkish surprise lifts yields further against equities, while dovish language would ignite banking sector re-rating.
Effective TBA	SEC/NGX minimum-trade-quantity rule	New tick-size framework (Group A ≥₦1,000; B ₦500–999; C <₦500) alters price discovery in thinly traded names; watch for distorted breadth signals.
