Report Date	Coverage Period	Prepared By	Edition
10 Aug 2026	03 Aug – 07 Aug 2026	Equinox Research	Vol. 1 No. 8

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

- Global risk assets rallied on US-Iran de-escalation and a surprise 23,000 drop in July US payrolls, lifting the S&P 500 ▲3.58% WoW to a record 7,757.64 as September Fed hike odds faded.
- The NGX ASI added ▲0.12% WoW to 245,573.60 (▲57.81% YTD) while South Africa's JSE led the continent ▲5.40%, amid expectations of significant institutional demand for the Dangote Refinery's proposed ~$5bn IPO.
- Banking led sectors ▲2.33% WoW (▲70.62% YTD), with First HoldCo ▲12.23% through its 52-week high to ₦145.40 after Otedola's fresh ₦18.1bn purchase, while Insurance lagged ▼3.31%.
- The naira firmed ▲0.21% WoW to ₦1,362.19/$ with reserves at a 17-year high of $52.5bn, and the FGN 10-yr yield fell 112bps to 17.22% as markets price the easing cycle.
- Breadth deteriorated (0.41x advance/decline) and value traded fell ▼65.6% to ₦139.05bn, leaving the rally narrow; July CPI (expected mid-August) is the key near-term test of the disinflation trade.

Market Outlook — Coming Week

- Banking leadership may extend if H1 earnings confirm ROE improvement at single-digit multiples (Zenith 9.47x, Access 9.58x); First HoldCo at 62.5x requires sustained earnings delivery to support its ▲187% YTD run.
- The July CPI print (expected mid-August) is the pivotal release: a third consecutive sub-16% reading would reinforce duration-plus-banks positioning; an upside surprise could trigger a sharp repricing of the long end.
- Dividend qualification dates provide large-cap support: Seplat's combined $0.12 interim and special (13 Aug) and the run-up to MTNN's ₦26.00 (20 Aug).
- The parallel-market spread (4.4%, ₦1,422.50/$) is a useful real-time gauge of FX liquidity and dollar demand; sustained widening would bear watching as the Dangote IPO window approaches.

Global Markets Commentary

- Risk assets rallied on twin catalysts: US-Iran de-escalation hopes and a surprise 23,000 drop in July US payrolls that priced out a September Fed hike. The S&P 500 closed at a record 7,757.64, ▲3.58% WoW.
- Falling oil anchored the move. Brent eased to $82.06 despite Strait of Hormuz headline volatility, pulling 10-yr Treasury yields to 4.64% and lifting gold ▲2.44% Friday to $4,342.62, a near seven-week high.
- Europe and China followed: STOXX 600 ▲1.70% WoW to a 52-week high of 660.25, Shanghai ▲2.81% though still ▼0.73% YTD. The Nikkei added ▲1.93% as coordinated US-Japan yen intervention held the dollar near ¥157.63.
- KOSPI was the outlier, ▼5.10% WoW and ▼18.25% MoM as its ▲48.52% YTD run corrects sharply, a caution flag for momentum-crowded Asian markets.

Frontier Africa Commentary

- South Africa led African markets, the JSE All Share ▲5.40% WoW to 117,518.36, tracking the global risk rally and a firmer rand (▲2.55% WoW to R16.13/$). Egypt lagged, the EGX 30 ▼2.92% WoW on profit-taking after a ▲24.04% YTD run.
- Nigeria's NGX ASI was flat at ▲0.12% WoW (▲57.81% YTD) amid expectations of significant institutional demand for the Dangote Refinery's proposed ~$5bn IPO, for which a formal application has been filed with the SEC.

- African currencies firmed against a weaker dollar: naira ▲0.21% WoW to ₦1,362.19/$ officially, though the parallel-market rate weakened 0.89% WoW to ₦1,422.50/$, a 4.4% spread to the official rate. The Egyptian pound gained ▲2.71% WoW.
- Primary markets are the macro theme: Angola's $329m Unitel IPO was 121% subscribed, Kenya's NSE hit a record Ksh4tn, and Ghana (▲73.14% YTD) lobbies for permanent capital gains tax exemption on listed securities.

SECTION 3 | NIGERIA — MARKET PULSE

NGX ASI Level	Weekly Change	YTD Return	Market Cap (₦tn)

58	0.41x	261,869	126,689.54 – 254,067.42

Market Snapshot Commentary

- The NGX ASI added 0.12% WoW to close at 245,573.60, reversing the prior week's 0.84% decline and lifting the YTD return to ▲57.81%. Market capitalisation rose ₦187bn to ₦158.51tn. The modest headline gain masked defensive positioning beneath the surface, consistent with portfolio rebalancing ahead of the Dangote Refinery IPO, which is expected to seek ~$5bn; Reuters reports the offer closing in October.
- Activity metrics diverged sharply. Volume rose ▲4.7% WoW to 5.36bn shares, but value traded collapsed ▼65.6% to ₦139.05bn from ₦404.76bn, indicating trading concentrated in lower-priced counters as institutional flows in large caps thinned. Deal count fell ▼8.2% to 261,869. Breadth deteriorated: 26 advancers against 63 decliners produced an advance/decline ratio of 0.41x, down from 0.59x, with negative breadth alongside a positive index print pointing to narrow large-cap support.
- The ASI sits 3.3% below its 52-week high of 254,067.42, set earlier this year. A decisive breadth recovery, or confirmation of the IPO timetable, likely determines whether that level is retested near term.

Market Snapshot Commentary

- Banking led the board, ▲2.33% WoW to 2,586.38 and ▲70.62% YTD, powered by tier-1 banks: First HoldCo climbed all week to ₦145.40, above its 52-week high, aided by Otedola raising his stake to 26.1% with a fresh ₦18.1bn purchase.
- Insurance was the laggard, ▼3.31% WoW to 1,160.35, turning ▼2.44% YTD, as Wapic, Consolidated Hallmark, FTG and Custodian sold off through the week.
- Consumer Goods fell ▼1.75% (QtD ▼5.78%), following a negative market reaction to Nestlé's H1 results despite ▲28% PAT growth, and near-limit declines in PZ Cussons and Honeywell Flour.
- Oil & Gas paused at ▼0.03% WoW but retains the YTD lead at ▲96.27%.
- The rotation into banks amid weaker consumer and insurance breadth bears watching as the Dangote IPO approaches; whether H1 bank earnings sustain the leadership is the key question for next week.

Market Movers Commentary

- AVA Capital's ▲46.67% WoW surge to ₦11.00 extended a four-session limit-up run with no disclosed corporate announcement; unexplained momentum warrants caution. ETI fell ▼12.61% to ₦70.00 with two near-limit daily drops, the week's most conspicuous heavyweight casualty amid possible company-specific concerns. All prices in this section are drawn from the frozen Friday 07 Aug NGX close file.

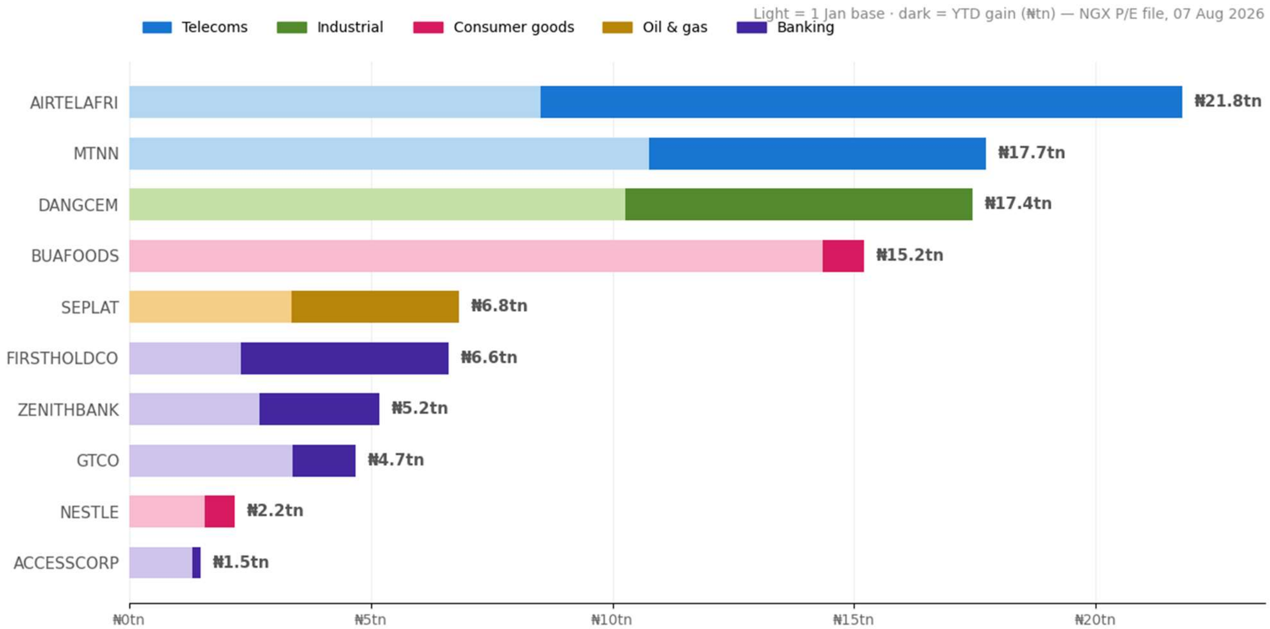
Market Movers Commentary

- First HoldCo dominated the segment, ▲12.23% WoW to ₦145.40 on 161.2m shares, extending its YTD gain to ▲187%; at 62.5x earnings, the stock's valuation has expanded materially ahead of current earnings growth, increasing its sensitivity to execution and earnings delivery.
- Zenith (▲1.94%, 9.5x) and Access (▲2.47%, 9.6x) advanced at undemanding multiples while GTCO eased ▼1.54%, and Nestlé fell ▼2.24% post-results. DANGCEM, BUAFOODS, AIRTELAFRI and SEPLAT closed the week unchanged. MTNN's 83,039x and DANGCEM's 1,644x P/Es appear distorted by the EPS basis in the source dataset and are excluded from analysis pending reconciliation. Banking large caps led; the broader tape lagged on 0.41x breadth.

NGX Large Cap: Market Cap, YTD Performance and Sector



Market Movers Commentary

On the NGX P/E file of 07 Aug 2026 — now the single authoritative source for market capitalisation — Airtel Africa leads at ₦21.80tn, followed by MTN Nigeria at ₦17.74tn and Dangote Cement at ₦17.45tn; the roughly ₦300bn gap between second and third means that ranking can still flip on sub-2% moves. Seplat (₦6.82tn) retains fifth place ahead of First HoldCo (₦6.61tn): last week's chart, built on scaled estimates, showed First HoldCo ahead, but the exchange file does not confirm the overtake and the ranking is restated accordingly.

- Telecoms (blue) — Airtel Africa ₦21.80tn, unchanged at ₦5,801.40 (▲156% YTD), the largest listing; MTNN ₦17.74tn at ₦845.00 (▼1.41% WoW, ▲65% YTD).
- Industrial (green) — Dangote Cement ₦17.45tn, flat at ₦1,034.00 (▲70% YTD).
- Consumer goods (pink) — BUA Foods ₦15.21tn at ₦845.10, weakest large-cap YTD at ▲6% on a ~5% free float. Nestlé ₦2.18tn, ▼2.24% post-results.
- Oil & gas (amber) — Seplat ₦6.82tn, unchanged at ₦11,363.90 (▲103% YTD), holding fifth place.
- Banking (purple) — First HoldCo ₦6.61tn (▲187% YTD, 62.5x); Zenith ₦5.17tn (▲1.94%, 9.5x); GTCO ₦4.68tn (▼1.54%); Access ₦1.47tn (▲2.47%, 9.6x).

Tier-1 banking stocks were broadly supported, led by First HoldCo, Zenith and Access, although GTCO declined — the FUGAZ trade was mixed rather than broad-based. Support for the index has become more concentrated, increasing the risk of a reversal if banking momentum fades.

Macro Commentary

- The naira appreciated ▲0.21% WoW at NAFEM to ₦1,362.19/$, aided by broad dollar weakness after the negative US payrolls print, and firmed ▲0.14% against sterling (₦1,833.69) and ▲0.34% against the euro (₦1,574.42). The parallel-market rate weakened ▼0.35% to ₦1,422.50/$, widening the official/parallel spread to ₦60.31 (4.4%). The widening premium is a useful real-time indicator of underlying FX liquidity and dollar demand; sustained widening would bear watching as the Dangote IPO approaches.
- The CBN held the MPR at 26.5% at the 306th MPC (20–21 Jul), its second consecutive hold, with CRR unchanged at 45%. June CPI printed 15.91% YoY, marginally lower than May's 15.93%, leaving real policy rates above 10%. The bond market is front-running easing: the FGN 10-yr yield fell 112bps WoW to 17.22% from 18.34%, an aggressive rally into the August DMO auction under the reduced ₦3.4–4.6tn Q3 calendar.
- Oil weakened on Iran–Oman transit-deal progress: Brent ▼6.44% WoW to $82.27/bbl and Bonny Light ▼7.95% to $89.06/bbl, though the $6.79 Bonny premium remains supportive. Reserves stood at $52.5bn (17 Jul), a 17-year high covering roughly 11 months of imports. Gold surged ▲7.18% to $4,342.35/oz on fading Fed hike odds.
- Events to watch next week: NGX Group H1 investor call (12 Aug); Seplat interim + special dividend qualification (13 Aug); NBS July CPI release (expected mid-August).

SECTION 8 | NIGERIA — MARKET METRICS & VALUATION

Valuation Metrics

Metric	Current (07 Aug 2026)	Prior Week (24 Jul 2026)	Change
Market P/E Ratio (large-cap, cap-weighted)	39.20x*	39.78x	▼ −0.58

Banking Sector avg P/E	18.27x	18.81x	▼ −0.54
Consumer Goods avg P/E	57.64x	53.43x	▲ +4.21
Oil & Gas avg P/E	38.52x	37.71x	▲ +0.81
Market Dividend Yield (avg)	▲ 3.75% (carried forward)	▲ 3.75% (carried forward)	n/a

"Market P/E" uses the NGX Main Board cap-weighted total (39.20x, from 39.78x last week), which naturally excludes the Premium Board's extreme outliers (MTNN 83,038.5x; Dangote Cement 1,644.1x) since those names sit on the Premium Board, not the Main Board. Main Board market capitalisation totalled ₦94.71tn (from ₦95.51tn) against a Premium Board total of ₦63.04tn (from ₦62.05tn) — the ₦1.0tn Premium Board rise is dominated by First HoldCo's ▲12.23% WoW rally.

Sector averages are simple (equal-weighted) averages of constituents across all boards that carry a reported P/E, excluding any individual constituent with a P/E above 100x as a statistical outlier — consistent with the treatment applied to the headline Market P/E figure.

Banking (7 constituents, unchanged from last week) excludes Wema Bank (723.9x, from 731.5x) and Jaiz Bank (294.1x, from 299.3x), both still distorted by post-recapitalisation EPS dilution though both compressed again this week. First HoldCo (62.5x, up from 55.6x as the price rally outruns holdco-level earnings) and Access Corp (9.6x, from 9.3x) sit under NGX's "Other Financial Institutions" subsector and are therefore outside the Banking average by classification. Zenith remains the cheapest bank on the list at 9.47x, with UBA at 11.09x; ETI de-rated to 14.14x on its ▼12.61% WoW decline. The ▼0.54 move is genuine multiple compression against a ▲2.33% Banking Index week — earnings growth is outpacing price.

Consumer Goods (8 constituents, up from 7): Cadbury re-entered the average at 90.7x, down from 100.7x, exactly the mechanical re-entry flagged last week — it alone accounts for the ▲4.21 headline move. On last week's 7-name basis the sector average would be 52.91x, a genuine ▼0.52 compression led by Nestlé (66.6x, post-H1 de-rating). NB (43.95x) and Dangote Sugar (23.84x) remain the cheapest constituents; Champion (1,123.0x), Guinness (192.5x), NASCON (146.1x), NNFM (145.0x), PZ (160.6x) and Unilever (367.4x) stay excluded above 100x.

Oil & Gas (5 constituents: Japaul Gold, Oando, Conoil, Eterna, Seplat) excludes TotalEnergies Marketing Nigeria (117.6x, unchanged). Aradel Holdings remains excluded as it has not reported P/E. The ▲0.81 rise is driven by Eterna (48.48x) and Oando (14.12x); Seplat is static at 53.43x and Japaul Gold at 0.25x continues to depress the simple average and remains the single largest source of distortion in this sector figure.

Market Dividend Yield is carried forward unchanged for a second consecutive edition; NGX did not publish an updated market-wide yield in the week to 07 Aug 2026. The next scheduled update is the monthly NGX factsheet.

Corporate action note: HBM Nigeria (Lafarge Africa) prints at 125.6x on the Premium Board, from 126.7x — a price effect, no share-count change detected. The source file continues to carry legacy security names (NEIMETH as "Pfizer Products Plc"; FTGINSURE as "Standard Alliance Insurance") — cosmetic, but worth flagging to NGX. No share count changes detected this week for Sterling Bank, Wema Bank, or Jaiz Bank versus last week's P/E file.

 Methodology note: the headline cap-weighted Market P/E of 39.20x is unscreened and distorted by extreme multiples — Presco (780.6x) and Okomu Oil (251.9x) alone contribute 13.69 points. The >100x-screened equivalent is 25.51x, the economically more meaningful figure. Both are disclosed; the unscreened number is retained as the headline solely to preserve series comparability until a formal rebase.*

Foreign Portfolio Investment (FPI)

Metric	Current (June-26)	Prior (May-26)	Trend
FPI Buy Value (₦ bn)	71.71	87.60	↓
FPI Sell Value (₦ bn)	115.08	96.01	↑
FPI Buy/Sell Ratio	0.62	0.91	↓
FPI Net Flow (₦ bn)	-43.37	-8.41	↓ (more negative)
FPI as % of Total Turnover	10.90%	9.45%	↑

Source: NGX Domestic & Foreign Portfolio Investment Report, June 2026. Total market transactions fell 11.82% MoM to ₦1.71359tn from ₦1.94325tn in May, even as total foreign transactions rose 1.73% MoM to ₦0.18679tn (₦186.79bn) from ₦0.18361tn — the FPI share-of-turnover increase (9.45% → 10.90%) is a function of the shrinking total pie, not stronger foreign conviction, as the Buy/Sell ratio and Net Flow both worsened. Exchange rate used: ₦1,379.68/$1 (NAFEM, 30 Jun 2026), versus ₦1,373.25/$1 in May.

Valuation Commentary

- Banking's 18.27x average sits at less than half the 39.20x Main Board cap-weighted market P/E, and the intra-sector spread is the story: Zenith (9.47x) and Access (9.58x) trade at deep discounts while GTCO holds 18.03x and First HoldCo's 62.45x prices in recovery earnings that have not yet printed.
- Seplat (53.43x) and Nestlé (66.58x) carry full multiples; DANGCEM's reported 1,644.1x appears distorted by the EPS basis in the source dataset and is excluded pending reconciliation, while BUA Foods carries no reported P/E in the NGX file. The banking rally is not uniform: Zenith and Access offer earnings-led re-rating potential at single-digit P/Es, whereas First HoldCo's rally is increasingly dependent on sustained earnings delivery and capital-return expectations.
- FPI flows deteriorated in June: foreign buying fell to ₦71.71bn against ₦115.08bn in sales, a net outflow of -₦43.37bn versus -₦8.41bn in May. Foreign share of turnover actually rose to 10.90% from 9.45%, but only because total market turnover contracted faster than foreign activity — not a signal of renewed international conviction.

SECTION 9 | INVESTMENT THEME

Theme — Banking Outperformance Amid Falling Bond Yields

OBSERVATION	The FGN 10-yr yield fell 112bps WoW to 17.22% while the Banking Index gained ▲2.33% and CPI held at 15.91% YoY, its second consecutive sub-16% print. The market is repositioning for an easing cycle: duration is being bought and rate-sensitive financials re-rated simultaneously, with the ASI ▲57.81% YTD.
DRIVER	The CBN held the MPR at 26.5% in July after a 50bp cut earlier in 2026, leaving real policy rates above 10% — among the widest cushions in frontier markets. Reserves at a 17-year high of 52.5 bn and a firming naira (₦1362.19, ▲0.21% WoW) anchor imported inflation. The DMO's reduced ₦3.4–4.6tn Q3 issuance calendar tightens bond supply into falling inflation.
IMPLICATION	Maintain a constructive duration bias while disinflation persists; the 112bps weekly rally suggests a substantial portion of the easing expectation is already reflected in the curve. In equities, favour recapitalised banks at single-digit multiples (Zenith 9.47x, Access 9.58x) where lower funding costs meet enlarged capital bases — the ROE question, adjusted for inflation and FX one-offs, matters more than nominal growth. H1 earnings breadth beyond financials is the confirmation signal to watch.
RISK	A hot July CPI print (expected mid-August) or renewed oil weakness (Brent ▼6.44% WoW to $82.27) would stall disinflation and reprice the curve higher. A raise of up to $5bn may absorb domestic liquidity in the transition window, pressuring equities and FX. A hawkish September MPC would challenge the duration thesis and could trigger a sharp repricing of the long end.

SECTION 10 | OUTLOOK — SECTORAL VIEWS & EVENTS TO WATCH

Sectoral Outlook — Coming Week

Sector	View	Conviction	Rationale
Banking	OW	M	FUGAZ momentum (▲2.33% WoW, ▲70.62% YTD) backed by single-digit multiples at Zenith (9.47x) and Access (9.58x), recapitalised balance sheets, and a new 60% payout policy at First HoldCo, though its 62.45x multiple warrants selectivity.
Consumer Goods	UW	M	Sector fell ▼1.75% WoW (▼5.78% QtD) with Nestlé's H1 read as below expectations despite ▲28% PAT growth, and pre-IPO rotation continues to drain defensive names at full multiples (sector avg 57.64x).
Oil & Gas	N	M	YTD leader at ▲96.27% but stalled (▼0.03% WoW) as Brent slid ▼6.44% to $82.27 on Strait of Hormuz de-escalation; Seplat's interim + special dividend (qual 13 Aug) provides near-term support.
Industrial Goods	N	M	▼0.17% WoW but ▲85.10% YTD; Dangote Cement's H1 (PAT ▲22.7%, net cash ₦215.2bn, exports ▲62.3%) is solid, though the LSE secondary listing and IPO-related rotation cap near-term upside.
Insurance	UW	L	Worst sector WoW (▼3.31%) and now ▼2.44% YTD with broad-based selling (Wapic, Custodian, Consolidated Hallmark); no near-term catalyst before recapitalisation clarity.
Telco (MTN/Airtel)	N	H	MTNN's ₦26.00 interim dividend (qual 20 Aug) and FY25 PAT of ₦1.11tn anchor the sector, but flat Airtel prints and MTNN ▼1.41% WoW suggest the ▲156%/▲65% YTD runs are consolidating.

OW = Overweight (expect outperformance) · N = Neutral · UW = Underweight · H/M/L = High/Medium/Low conviction

▲ BULLISH FACTORS

- Duration rally underway: FGN 10-yr yield fell 112bps WoW to 17.22% with CPI at 15.91% and reserves at a 17-year high of $52.5bn, supporting an equity re-rating as the easing cycle gets priced.
- Dangote Refinery's ~$5bn IPO filing (SEC receipt confirmed; Reuters reports an October close): at the ~$40bn+ valuation implied by the private placement, a successful listing could add roughly 30–35% to aggregate NGX market capitalisation, depending on final valuation and free float, and deepen institutional participation, with PenCom already permitting PFA allocation against ₦30.6tn AUM.
- August dividend season is dense: eight qualification dates including Seplat (13 Aug), Custodian (17 Aug) and MTNN (20 Aug) provide income support and a floor under large caps.

▼ BEARISH RISKS

- Breadth is deteriorating: 0.41x advance/decline (from 0.59x) and a ▼65.6% collapse in value traded to ₦139.05bn show the ▲0.12% headline rests on a narrow FUGAZ bid.
- Pre-IPO liquidity risk: a raise of up to $5bn may absorb domestic liquidity; weak breadth, defensive-sector selling and the parallel-market spread widening to 4.4% bear watching, though direct attribution to IPO positioning is not yet established.
- Oil fragility: Bonny Light fell ▼7.95% WoW to $89.06; a durable Iran–Oman transit deal would compress the crude premium underpinning FX inflows, fiscal receipts and the Oil & Gas Index's ▲96.27% YTD lead.

Events to Watch — Next Week

Date	Event Type	Details & Why It Matters
12 Aug 2026	NGX Group H1 investor call	Read-through for market-infrastructure earnings momentum (revenue ▲118% YoY) and IPO-pipeline commentary.
13 Aug	Seplat interim + special dividend qualification ($0.12 combined)	Support into the date; watch for post-qualification profit-taking in the YTD leader.
~15–17 Aug	NBS July CPI release (June: 15.91% YoY)	A third consecutive sub-16% print fuels the duration-plus-banks trade; an upside surprise reprices the curve and stalls the rally.
20 Aug	MTNN interim dividend qualification (₦26.00)	Income-driven demand for the third-largest listing; a stabiliser if IPO rotation pressures the broader tape
