INSTITUTIONAL MARKET INTELLIGENCE

Nigeria

Report Date 29 Jun 2026	Coverage Period 22 Jun – 26 Jun 2026	Prepared By Equinox Research	Edition Vol. 1 No. 2
-----------------------------------	--	--	--------------------------------

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

- Global risk assets wobbled as an AI-capex valuation scare cut the Nasdaq 4.6% on the week and a hawkish Fed pivot under Chair Warsh lifted December hike odds to 86%, even as Brent collapsed to ~$72.10/bbl on Iran de-escalation.
- Nigeria's NGX ASI was frontier Africa's worst performer, falling 1.65% WoW to 232,049.02 while paring its YTD gain to +49.12%, as Kenya's NSE (+2.23% WoW) stood alone as the region's only advancing market.
- Sector dispersion was extreme: Banking rebounded 3.51% WoW off oversold levels (GTCO +10.69%) and Consumer Goods rose 2.40%, while Oil & Gas collapsed 9.86% as Aradel sank 19.00% on placement-driven liquidity withdrawal despite leading turnover at ₦4.29bn.
- Macro signals stayed mixed: the naira's official rate weakened 1.25% WoW to ₦1,377.96/$ on ₦190.2bn turnover, while CPI ticked up to 15.93% YoY and the MPR held at 26.50%, keeping 16–17.5% T-bill yields a magnet for equity allocations.
- Banking remains the swing factor into next week, where clarity on the CBN's draft HoldCo ring-fencing rules and the onset of half-year earnings will either sustain the tier-one rebound or extend the rotation into fixed income that has left breadth at a selective 0.39x A/D ratio.

Market Outlook — Coming Week

- Banking remains the key swing factor: the Banking Index rebounded 3.51% WoW to 2,130.27 off oversold levels, but clarity on the CBN's draft HoldCo ring-fencing guidelines and the start of half-year earnings will determine whether the tier-one bounce holds or the rotation into fixed income resumes, with T-bills yielding 16–17.5%.
- Export-linked Oil & Gas (+90.31% YTD) and Telecoms still screen as the structurally resilient segments on naira-hedged, cash-generative earnings — Aradel's FY25 PAT rose 192% to ₦757.3bn, while MTN and Airtel closed broadly flat — though the sector's 9.86% WoW drop shows even leaders are exposed to profit-taking, with 230,000 now the key technical reference.
- Key calendar items: the Dangote Cement (₦45) dividend payment on 2 Jul confirms the ex-div markdown is absorbed; Aradel's 9 Jul qualification (₦23 final) may support the counter after its 19% drop; and the mid-July NBS June CPI print will test the disinflation thesis against the latest 15.93% reading and a hawkish Fed backdrop.

Global Markets Commentary

- ▼ The AI capex bubble debate dominated the week, dragging the Nasdaq down 4.6% — its steepest weekly loss since April — as the Philadelphia Semiconductor Index shed 7.9%. Micron fell 13.18% Tuesday despite upbeat results; investors punished hyperscaler spenders over delayed payback fears.
- ▼ A hawkish Fed pivot under new Chair Warsh repriced rate expectations sharply, with December hike odds jumping to 86% from 61%. The dollar index climbed to 13-month highs near 101.80 mid-week before easing to 101.35 on softer inflation data.
- ▼ Crude collapsed as the Iran war premium unwound — Brent fell to $72.10 (▼4.2% Friday) as tankers exited the Strait of Hormuz. Falling energy prices tempered inflation fears, pressuring gold below $4,000 mid-week before a rebound to $4,071.66.
- ▲ KOSPI's +99.59% YTD led global divergence, with Nikkei +37.79% YTD, while the S&P 500 (-1.95% WoW) and Shanghai (-1.55% WoW) lagged on tech and growth concerns.

Frontier Africa Commentary

- ▼ African equities broadly retreated, with four of five covered markets falling WoW. Egypt's EGX 30 led declines, down 2.24% to 51,443.07, trailed by South Africa's JSE (▼2.11% to 110,230.96) and Nigeria's NGX ASI (▼1.65% to 232,049.02), the latter still holding a +49.12% YTD.
- ▲ Kenya's NSE All Share was the sole gainer and clear standout, up 2.23% WoW (▲8.04% MoM, +19.21% YTD) to 222.42, driven by a banking-sector bull run now at a record 42.5% of NSE capitalisation amid a high-rate environment and aggressive regional expansion.
- ▼ South Africa's JSE remains the only market negative YTD at ▼4.84%, with its ▼4.82% MoM the weakest monthly print across the region. Ghana's GSE held flat (▼0.01% WoW) but retains the strongest YTD performance at +68.41%.
- ▲ African FX was stable-to-firm: USD/ZAR flat at 16.41, USD/EGP firmed 0.81% to 49.49, USD/GHS eased 0.90% to 11.25. The NGN official rate weakened 1.25% WoW to ₦1,377.96; the parallel-official spread held at ₦24.5.

Market Snapshot Commentary

- The NGX All-Share Index fell 1.65% WoW to 232,049.02, retreating ₦3,892.25 points as profit-taking extended a corrective phase that has now erased 5.77% over the trailing month. The pullback pared market capitalisation to ₦148.67tn from ₦151.33tn, yet the index retains a +49.12% YTD return, leaving the broader uptrend intact despite near-term consolidation. The sell-off remained orderly and was concentrated in large-cap names following the recent rally.
- Market breadth weakened further, reinforcing the bearish tone, with 64 decliners against 25 advancers for an A/D ratio of 0.39x — though that marks an improvement from the prior week's distressed 0.14x. Activity thinned materially: weekly volume printed 389.28m shares against 3.08bn the prior week, while value traded collapsed to ₦190.2bn from ₦254.6bn.. Deals eased to 249,328 from 287,157.
- The index sits roughly 5.6% below its 52-week high of 245,757.79 and well above the 152,912.36 trough, positioning the market in the upper end of its annual range despite the weekly drawdown.

Market Snapshot Commentary

- Consumer Goods led the scoreboard, advancing 2.40% WoW to 6,065.99 and extending its market-leading +72.61% YTD, the only major sector also positive MoM (▲0.42%) — a defensive rotation as investors favoured earnings resilience over the rate-sensitive heavyweights. Banking followed with a 3.51% WoW gain to 2,130.27, rebounding off oversold levels as tier-one names (First HoldCo, GTCO) bounced from prior-week declines exceeding 15%, though the CBN HoldCo ring-fencing draft capped sentiment.
- Oil & Gas was the worst performer, collapsing 9.86% WoW (▼15.02% MoM) to 5,081.62 despite a sector-leading +90.31% YTD, as profit-taking unwound an overextended rally. Industrial Goods fell 8.21% WoW to 10,201.73, driven by simultaneous 10% limit-down moves in Dangote Cement and BUA Cement on Wednesday's record ₦3.64tn single-day wipeout..

Market Movers Commentary

- MCNICHOLS topped gainers at +26.47% to ₦8.60, a small-cap outlier disconnected from the broad bearish tape. The week's real signal sat among losers: ARADEL fell 19.00% to ₦1,417.50 yet led all stocks by value traded (₦4.29bn), the drop likely reflected a combination of profit-taking after a strong run, Brent's slide and liquidity-raising ahead of the >$5bn Dangote Refinery placement, rather than any single driver. SIAMLETF40 screened down 41.54% on the week, a move whose size points to an ETF NAV or pricing artifact rather than a fundamental repricing.

SEPLAT	11,364	11,364	0.00 %	384,726	+10.3 %	53	P/E 53.4x. YTD +103%. Flat WoW; Oil & Gas index -9.86% WoW on crude weakness.

* Dangote Cement P/E of 1,836x reflects a trailing-EPS artifact in the source feed and is not a meaningful valuation signal; on reported FY25 EPS of ₦59.86 the multiple is approximately 18x.

Market Movers Commentary

- Large caps outperformed the broad market's 1.65% WoW decline, with most heavyweights closing flat as the index-level damage concentrated in cement and energy. ZENITHBANK stands out on valuation: at a P/E of 8.6x — the cheapest among Premium Board banks — it gained 4.5% WoW and holds +78.2% YTD, anchoring banking's sector rebound. GTCO rebounded 10.69% to ₦127.90 on an 18x multiple, leading the tier-one recovery with its dividend record intact. DANGCEM's headline 1,836x P/E is a trailing-EPS artifact; on FY25 EPS of ₦59.86 the underlying multiple is roughly 18x.

NGX Large Cap: Market Cap, YTD Performance and Sector

Market Movers Commentary

The sector lens this week shows the rally's leadership rotation hardening, with the broad index down 1.65% WoW:

- Telecoms (blue) still dominates by market cap — MTNN (N6.2tn) and Airtel Africa together exceed half the total column width. MTNN closed flat WoW with YTD now +55% (eased from +57%), Airtel flat at +92%, the pair continuing to anchor the index against deeper losses.
- Oil & Gas (amber) — Seplat retains the strongest YTD gain of any large-cap at +95% (trimmed from +103%), flat on the week, but the sector itself was the week's worst at ▼9.86% WoW as crude weakness and profit-taking bit. The tall amber column masks sector-level stress beneath the single-name resilience.
- Banking (purple) — the visible stress point persists. GTCO's gain segment has compressed further to +24% YTD (from +25%) and Access shows effectively no gain (-1%), both reflecting the CBN HoldCo ring-fencing selloff. Zenith holds a larger +78% YTD base and was one of the few large-cap gainers, up 4.5% WoW.
- Industrial (green) — Dangote Cement remains the second-largest column at +76% YTD, but hit 10% limit-down Wednesday in the cement-led N3.64tn single-session wipeout, the clearest single-stock drag on the week despite the flat YTD optics.
- Consumer Goods (pink) — BUA Foods (+18%) and Nestlé (+60%) stay the smallest columns, with BUA still digesting its post ex-dividend markdown.

EQUINOX FRONTIER MARKETS WEEKLY

Week of: 26 June 2026

- The structural signal is unchanged but sharper: leadership remains rotated away from banking toward export-linked Oil & Gas and defensive Telecoms, with the purple banking segment now the unambiguous drag on the large-cap complex amid ring-fencing capital-raise fears.

- Dangote Cement declared a ₦45.00 final dividend (FY25), up from ₦30.00, qualification 17 Jun, payment 2 Jul.
- Aradel proposed ₦23.00 final (₦33.00 FY total), qualification 9 Jul.
- Confirmed payouts driving this week's ex-dividend markdowns: FCMB ₦0.35 (qual. 15 Jun), UACN ₦1.00 (qual. 11 Jun, +355% YoY), Airtel Africa 4.26 US cents (qual. 17 Jun), and Eterna ₦0.50. These markdowns mechanically pressured the index.

Capital Actions

- Dangote Refinery's private placement drew bids exceeding $5bn, with liquidity-raising cited as a contributor to NGX selling. Family Bank (Kenya) lists on the NSE 23 Jun at KSh18.00, a ~24.1% premium to placement.

Other

- The SEC approved a new tick-size/minimum-trade-quantity framework on 16 Jun, reclassifying most banks and consumer names into Group C — a structural shift to price discovery once effective.

Macro Commentary

- The Naira faced renewed pressure this week amid persistent demand for foreign exchange. The USD/NGN official rate (NAFEM) climbed to ₦1,377.96 (+1.25% WoW) as of 26 June, while the parallel/bureau market reached ~₦1,819.05 (+1.28% WoW), widening the spread. GBP/NGN stood at ₦1,568.53 (+0.06% WoW) and EUR/NGN eased to ₦4,080.80 (-1.94% WoW), reflecting divergent global currency moves.
- Monetary policy remained steady with the CBN holding the Monetary Policy Rate (MPR) at 26.50%. Headline CPI inflation edged higher to 15.93% YoY in May 2026 (from 15.69% prior), driven by food and transport costs, though monthly momentum moderated. The FGN 10-year bond yield was largely stable at 14.96% (prior: 14.95%).
- Oil prices retreated on global supply dynamics, with Brent at $71.99/bbl (-4.34% WoW) and Nigeria's Bonny Light at $72.70/bbl. External reserves continued their upward trajectory, reaching $51.04 bn (as of mid-to-late June), up modestly week-on-week and marking one of the strongest positions in recent years. Gold traded at ~$4,156.6/oz.
- CBN action this week: No MPC meeting; continued FX interventions and reserve management.
- Key event next week: MPC meeting preparations and potential July inflation preview.
- Events to watch next week: Q2 corporate earnings momentum (late July ramp-up), FGN bond auction (early July), and CBN FX market updates.).

SECTION 8 | NIGERIA — MARKET METRICS & VALUATION

Valuation Metrics

Metric	Current	Prior Week	Change
Market P/E Ratio (large-cap, cap-weighted)	43.97	45.65	-1.51
Banking Sector avg P/E	10.60	12.06	-0.08
Consumer Goods avg P/E	221.76	225.67	-2.83
Oil & Gas avg P/E	35.80	36.48	+0.70
Market Dividend Yield (avg)	+3.75%	n/a	n/a

Methodology notes: “Market P/E” uses the NGX-published Main Board cap-weighted total, which excludes the extreme outliers (MTNN ~78,616x; Dangote Cement ~1,836x) that distort the Premium Board figure. Sector averages are simple (equal-weighted) averages of constituents that carry a reported P/E. Aradel is excluded from Oil & Gas as it has no reported P/E. P/B is not derivable from the supplied NGX files. Dividend yield is a simple average over a large-cap, dividend-paying sample from the Daily Official List.

Foreign Portfolio Investment (FPI)

Metric	Current (Apr-26)	Prior (Mar-26)	Trend
FPI Buy Value (₦ bn)	90.84	107.05	↓
FPI Sell Value (₦ bn)	156.94	181.77	↓
FPI Buy/Sell Ratio	0.58	0.59	↓
FPI Net Flow (₦ bn)	-66.10	-74.72	↑ (less negative)
FPI as % of Total Turnover	+13.74%	+16.56%	↓

FPI values converted from ₦ Trillion to ₦ billion. Buy = foreign inflow (purchases); Sell = foreign outflow (sales/liquidation). Net Flow = inflow – outflow (negative = net foreign selling). FPI as % of total turnover uses total foreign transactions ÷ total market transactions for the month. The NGX FPI report is published roughly two weeks after month-end; April 2026 is the latest available.

Macro Commentary

- Banking remains the value anchor, averaging 10.60x — GTCO 16.27x, Zenith 8.27x, Access 8.10x and FirstHoldCo 23.62x — versus a market large-cap proxy of 43.97x. The dispersion is stark: Seplat trades at 53.43x and Nestlé at 75.66x, while the screened figure for Dangote Cement of 1,836x reflects a trailing-EPS artifact in the source feed and is not a meaningful valuation signal; on reported FY25 EPS of ₦59.86 the multiple is closer to ~18x. The cheap banks reflect HoldCo dilution fears rather than weak fundamentals.
- Foreign flows stayed net negative in the latest NGX data (April 2026): buys ₦90.84bn against sells ₦156.94bn, a net outflow of ₦66.10bn at 13.74% of turnover. The narrowing deficit (from ₦74.72bn) signals tentative re-engagement, but offshore investors remain structurally cautious on naira and repatriation risk.

SECTION 9 | INVESTMENT THEME
Theme — Rotation Into Banks, Out of Cyclical

OBSERVATION	Sector leadership has rotated decisively toward banking, which gained 3.51% WoW (NGX Banking Index to 2,130.27) while the All-Share Index fell 1.65%. GTCO (+10.69% WoW), First HoldCo (+10.00%) and Zenith (+4.50%) led, even as large-cap energy and industrials dragged: Aradel ▼19.00% and the Oil & Gas Index ▼9.86%, Industrial Goods ▼8.21%. Breadth stayed selective — 25 advancers against 64 decliners (A/D 0.39x).
DRIVER	Banking strength reflects institutional positioning ahead of recapitalisation-driven capital raises and FY/Q1 earnings, supported by high liquidity (Access, Zenith among most-active by volume). The large-cap weakness is partly mechanical: Aradel led all stocks by value traded (₦4.29bn) on a 19% drop as investors raised liquidity for the >$5bn-bid Dangote Refinery placement, while Dangote Cement and BUA Cement hit 10% limit-down on Wednesday's record ₦3.64tn single-session wipeout. Treasury bills yielding 16–17.5% are pulling allocation toward fixed income.
IMPLICATION	For a one-week horizon, momentum and catalyst flow favour banking as the highest-conviction overweight (GTCO, Zenith, Access, Fidelity, First HoldCo), with ICT as a secondary momentum play on the back of Airtel Africa's +10% week and elevated sector turnover. Selective Consumer Goods (NASCON, Dangote Sugar on accumulation) offers a rotation hedge if banks see profit-taking. Oil & Gas and Industrials warrant underweight: leadership has rotated out, and both carry continuation risk after sharp drawdowns.
RISK	The thesis invalidates if banking's run triggers profit-taking before fresh capital rotates in — the sector is already extended after a strong bounce off oversold levels. Crystallised downside catalysts: an adverse turn on the CBN HoldCo ring-fencing draft (dilution fears via rights issues), a hawkish T-bill auction accelerating the equity-to-fixed-income shift, or a crude/naira shock. Note the new NGX minimum-trade-quantity rule may distort price discovery in thinly traded Group C names, muddying breadth signals.

SECTION 10 | OUTLOOK — SECTORAL VIEWS & EVENTS TO WATCH
Sectoral Outlook — Coming Week

Sector	View	Conviction	Rationale
Banking	N	H	Neutral balances a strong tactical bounce against an unresolved structural overhang: tier-one names rebounded off oversold levels on cheap valuations (Zenith 8.3x, Access 8.1x), but the CBN HoldCo ring-fencing draft and the recapitalisation programme keep dilution risk live. We are tactically constructive over a one-week horizon (Section 9) but fundamentally cautious until the guidelines settle.
Consumer Goods	N	M	The CG Index rose 2.40% WoW and leads all sectors YTD at +72.61%, but CPI at 15.93% and FX-driven input costs continue to compress margins, keeping the rally selective rather than broad.
Oil & Gas	OW	M	Sector leads YTD at +90.31% with naira-hedged export earnings (Aradel FY25 PAT +192%), but fell ▼9.86% WoW on Brent's slide to ~$72.10 and placement-driven profit-taking; downgraded conviction to M on near-term momentum loss.
Industrial Goods	UW	M	Index fell 8.21% WoW after Dangote Cement and BUA Cement hit 10% limit-down in Wednesday's ₦3.64tn wipeout; the ex-div markdown (₦45 DPS) and profit-taking unwound part of the +79.72% YTD run.
Insurance	N	M	Index fell ▼4.39% WoW amid broad risk reduction; thin liquidity and the absence of near-term catalysts override low-beta appeal, though +28.34% YTD keeps it off an underweight.
Telco (MTN/Airtel)	OW	H	Telecoms anchored the market — MTN and Airtel closed broadly flat WoW against a ▼1.65% ASI — with pricing power and cash-generative defensiveness supporting near-term rotation; Airtel holds +92% YTD.

OW = Overweight (expect outperformance) · N = Neutral · UW = Underweight · H/M/L = High/Medium/Low conviction

▲ BULLISH FACTORS

- The ASI retains a +49.12% YTD gain and trades in the upper half of its 52-week range (152,912–245,757), with the broader uptrend intact despite the 5.77% MoM correction.
- Banking rebounded 3.51% WoW off oversold levels on cheap valuations and recapitalisation-driven institutional positioning, suggesting bargain-hunting support beneath the index.
- Oil & Gas (+90.31% YTD) and Telecoms held firm through the decline, providing naira-hedged and cash-generative defensive anchors as liquidity constraints weighed on cyclicals.

▼ BEARISH RISKS

- Breadth collapsed to 25 advancers against 64 decliners (A/D 0.39x); the market shed roughly ₦9tn over three weeks of June, indicating broad rather than isolated weakness.
- CBN HoldCo ring-fencing raises dilution fears — banks may need rights issues or public offers to meet capital rules, and fund exits to pre-empt dilution could deepen the bank-led selloff.
- T-bills yielding 16–17.5% are pulling allocation from equities to fixed income, while Dangote Refinery placement liquidity-raising (>$5bn bids) drained capital from energy and large-cap positions.

2 Jul	Dangote Cement ₦45 final dividend payment	Confirms ex-div markdown already absorbed; watch for post-payment accumulation in the oversold cement complex.
9 Jul	Aradel dividend qualification (₦23 final)	Pre-qualification demand may support the counter into the date, partially offsetting this week's ▼19% liquidity-driven drop.
12 Jul	NSE Chairman Kittony steps down (Kenya)	Cross-border governance transition at the regional bourse; relevant to frontier-Africa allocation sentiment post Family Bank listing.
Mid-July	NBS June CPI release	A further easing from 15.93% would support the disinflation thesis and lift rate-sensitive Banking and Consumer names; a hawkish Fed backdrop keeps naira/FPI pressure live.
Effective TBA	SEC/NGX minimum-trade-quantity rule	New tick-size framework (Group A ≥₦1,000; B ₦500–999; C <₦500) alters price discovery in thinly traded names; watch for distorted breadth signals.
