Report Date 13 July 2026	Coverage Period 06 July – 10 July 2026	Prepared By Equinox Research	Edition Vol. 1 No. 4
------------------------------------	--	--	--------------------------------

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

- Global equities diverged WoW as the S&P 500 (▲1.23%) closed near record highs at 7,575.39, while KOSPI plunged ▼7.57% and STOXX 600 fell ▼1.79% on AI-valuation resets and renewed US–Iran hostilities.
- The NGX ASI surged ▲6.35% WoW to 243,798.76 (+56.67% YTD) on ₦220.57bn turnover (▲42.9%), leading frontier Africa and overtaking KOSPI as the world's best-performing market in dollar terms (+67%).
- Industrial Goods (▲10.46%) and the Premium Index (▲10.61%) led sectors, while First HoldCo surged ▲25.82% to ₦69.20 on a near-record ₦85.61bn single-day institutional block ahead of its 30 Jul board meeting.
- The naira eased ▲0.48% to ₦1,376.22 officially with the parallel spread widening to ₦33.78, while reserves rose to $51.72bn and the 364-day NTB stop rate jumped to 17.70% from 17.34%.
- The ASI has entered the major 241,000–245,000 resistance band, with a sustained close above 245,000 required to confirm the next leg higher — the ~15 Jul June CPI print (prior: 15.93%) and ₦600bn NTB auction are the week's key liquidity tests.

Market Outlook — Coming Week

- Banking remains the swing factor. Recapitalisation flows drove Financial Services to 79.48% of weekly volume and First HoldCo's ₦85.61bn Thursday block confirmed institutional conviction, although Friday's ▼0.78% sector dip on Stanbic IBTC's ▼6.6% slide points to short-term profit-taking in a crowded trade. Zenith's 8.3x multiple leaves room for re-rating, but rising Treasury yields (one-year stops at 17.70%) may compress equity valuation multiples despite attractive earnings momentum — Wednesday's 15 Jul ₦600bn NTB auction is the first test of whether earnings season or fixed income wins the marginal naira.
- The five-session recovery lifted the ASI ▲8.8% off the 2 Jul low of 224,321.97 and into the major 241,000–245,000 resistance band. Friday's ▼0.07% consolidation on sharply lower volume (▼73.36%) suggests short-term profit-taking rather than a confirmed reversal; a sustained close above 245,000 re-ignites the multi-year run, while July's ₦2.0tn T-bill programme (net ~₦1.35tn liquidity withdrawal) and Dangote Refinery IPO-related unwinding argue against chasing strength into the breakout zone.
- Oil & Gas (+96.80% YTD) stays the momentum anchor after Aradel's ▲19.67% recovery to ₦1,526.80 (now trading ex-div on its ₦23.00 final), with Brent at $76.00 on Hormuz disruption supporting dollar-earners Seplat (+102.6% YTD) and upstream peers; Telecoms offer idiosyncratic cover into 30 Jul results, with Airtel Africa at a record ₦5,801.40 (+156% YTD) and MTNN reclaiming ₦810 — while Insurance (-4.74% YTD) stays an underweight pending evidence of earnings acceleration.

Week of: 10 July 2026

- Key calendar items: the ~15 Jul NBS June CPI print tests the disinflation thesis after the re-acceleration to 15.93%; the 15 Jul ~~¥~~600bn NTB auction sets the yield backdrop before the 22 Jul ~~¥~~378.43bn maturity window briefly eases liquidity; the 20–21 Jul MPC meeting (consensus hold at 26.50%) frames the rate path; and FTSE Russell's end-August reclassification verdict remains the structural overhang keeping foreign participation at just 9.45% of turnover — though S&P DJI's 2027 Frontier watchlist adds a counterweight re-rating catalyst.

Global Markets Commentary

- US equities shrugged off renewed US–Iran hostilities, with the S&P 500 closing at 7,575.39 (+1.23% WoW, +10.66% YTD) near record highs as AI-linked chip strength and 24% consensus Q2 earnings growth offset geopolitical risk.
- ▼ Asian profit-taking dominated: KOSPI plunged ▼7.57% WoW to 7,475.94 despite a +77.40% YTD run, as blowout Samsung earnings failed to clear elevated chip expectations; Nikkei 225 eased ▼1.70% WoW to 68,557.73 (+36.19% YTD).
- ▼ Europe and China lagged the risk rally — STOXX 600 fell ▼1.79% WoW to 641.10 and Shanghai Composite slipped ▼1.17% to 3,996.16, with China's +0.69% YTD underscoring persistent underperformance versus developed peers.
- ▲ Inflation risk re-emerged as the dominant macro theme: Strait of Hormuz disruptions lifted Brent near $76, US 10Y yields held above 4.55%, and a higher-for-longer Fed narrative frames next week's CPI print and earnings kickoff.

Frontier Africa Commentary

- ▲ Nigeria led the region, with the NGX ASI surging ▲ 6.35% WoW to 243,798.76 (+56.67% YTD, ₦156.45tn market cap) as banking recapitalisation flows and a rebound off the 224,285 double-bottom support drove a violent reversal.
- ▼ South Africa was the sole decliner: the JSE All Share fell ▼ 1.03% WoW to 110,355.39 (▼ 4.73% YTD) as net foreign reserves dropped to $71.34bn from $73.47bn and gold miners Harmony (▼ 1.58%) and Gold Fields (▼ 1.40%) sold off.
- ▲ Ghana (+0.78% WoW, +68.77% YTD) remains Africa's best market this year on cedi stability and post-debt-restructuring bank re-ratings; Egypt's EGX 30 gained ▲ 2.31% WoW to 52,311.51 with foreign investors net buyers.
- ▼ FX signals turned cautious: official USD/NGN weakened ▲ 0.48% WoW to 1,376.22 while the parallel rate slid ▲ 2.45% to 1,410.00, widening the spread — Hormuz-driven fuel costs also prompted a World Bank cut to Kenya's 2026 growth forecast (4.3%).

Market Snapshot Commentary

- The NGX ASI surged ▲ 6.35% WoW to 243,798.76, a 14,558.42-point gain that reversed the prior week's -1.21% decline and lifted the YTD return to ▲ 56.67% from ▲ 47.31%. Market capitalisation added ₦9.34tn to close at ₦156.45tn, with banking recapitalisation flows and institutional re-positioning off the 224,285 support zone driving the rebound.
- Value traded jumped ▲ 42.9% WoW to ₦220.57bn from ₦154.39bn, even as volume eased ▼ 4.5% to 3.65bn shares and deal count slipped ▼ 2.6% to 251,861 — a pattern consistent with larger-ticket institutional block activity rather than retail churn. Breadth confirmed the rally's quality: advancers outnumbered decliners 60 to 28 (58 unchanged) per the NGX weekly report, flipping the advance/decline ratio to 2.14x from 0.39x, one of the sharpest single-week breadth reversals YTD.
- The index has entered the major 241,000–245,000 resistance band, closing roughly 3.4% below the May 2026 all-time high of 252,508.19 — a sustained close above 245,000 is required to confirm the next leg higher.

Market Snapshot Commentary

- Industrial Goods led all sectors, surging ▲10.46% WoW to 10,713.01 (▲88.73% YTD) on heavyweight cement strength — Dangote Cement gained 8.08% Monday and 5.40% Tuesday, with Lafarge/WAPCO adding 7.53% and 4.83% across the same sessions. The Sovereign Bond Index was the sole decliner, easing 0.02% WoW to 670.30 (▼1.74% YTD) as fixed income continued to cede flows to equities' superior real returns.
- Oil & Gas rose 8.11% WoW (▲96.80% YTD, the top sector YTD), powered by Aradel's recovery — including an 8.86% single-day gain Wednesday — from its June correction low below ₦1,400. Consumer Goods lagged equity peers at ▲3.11% WoW (▲18.02% YTD), with input-cost pressure capping the sector despite International Breweries' 10.00% Thursday move.
- Friday's banking pullback (▼0.78% on Stanbic IBTC's 6.6% drop) bears watching as recapitalisation-driven leadership meets Q2 earnings from July 30 board meetings.

Market Movers Commentary

- First HoldCo's ▲25.82% WoW to ₦69.20 was the week's defining institutional story — Thursday alone saw 1.26bn shares worth ₦85.61bn change hands, among the largest single-stock daily transactions in NGX history, ahead of its 30 Jul Q2 board meeting. International Breweries surged ▲40.00% to ₦13.30, a sharp reversal for a pressured consumer name. Aradel's ▲19.67% to ₦1,526.80 confirms energy leadership reasserting, though the stock remains below its ₦1,750 June peak. Stanbic ETF 30's ▼26.02% print on just 4,899 units is inconsistent with the NGX 30 Index's ▲6.60% weekly gain and is treated as a thin-volume pricing artefact rather than a fundamental signal.

Market Movers Commentary

- Large-cap participation was broad this week: MTNN gained ▲8.00% WoW to ₦810, Dangote Cement ▲17.51% to ₦1,047, Airtel Africa +10.00% to a record ₦5,801.40 and First HoldCo ▲25.82% to ₦69.20 — with only Seplat, Nestle and BUA Foods closing flat against the ASI's ▲6.35% advance.
- Valuation dispersion remains stark: Zenith (8.3x) and Access (8.9x) anchor the cheap end versus Nestle at 75.7x, while MTNN (79,599x) and DANGCEM (1,665x) P/Es reflect thin earnings bases and should be treated as non-meaningful.

NGX Large Cap: Market Cap, YTD Performance and Sector

Market Movers Commentary

The sector lens this week shows the recovery broadening across the large-cap complex, with the ASI up ▲6.35% WoW and YTD strengthening to ▲56.67%. Market caps are scaled from last week's chart using WoW price moves from the NGX gainers and most-active feeds:

- Telecoms (blue) — MTNN extends its dominance at ~₦9.8tn, with YTD rebuilding to ▲59% (from +47%) as the stock gained 8.00% WoW to ₦810, its highest close in weeks. Airtel Africa holds second place at ~₦3.5tn with YTD surging to ▲156% (from ▲132%) after Wednesday's 10% limit-up to a record ₦5,801.40 — institutional accumulation ahead of the July 30 Q2 board meeting.
- Industrial (green) — Dangote Cement reclaims third at ~₦3.4tn, YTD recovering to ▲72% (from ▲46%) on successive gains of ▲8.08% Monday and ▲5.40% Tuesday.
- Oil & Gas (amber) — Seplat slips to fourth at ₦3.2tn, flat WoW at ₦11,364, YTD steady at ▲103%; still the segment's richest energy valuation at 53.4x.
- Banking (purple) — uniformly higher. Zenith (~₦1.0tn) rose to ▲72% YTD (▲3.79% WoW to ₦110.80) on the market's heaviest value traded. First HoldCo was the standout, jumping ▲25.82% WoW to lift YTD to ▲42% (from ▲13%) and pull roughly level with Access (▲8% YTD, finally positive from -2%). GTCO reached ▲37% YTD and remains the value anchor at 17.7x.
- Consumer goods (pink) — Nestlé (▲60% YTD, 75.7x) and BUA Foods (▲18% YTD) remain the smallest columns, both flat WoW.

The structural signal has inverted from last week: Industrial and Banking, the prior drags, drove the recovery — while recapitalisation flows concentrated in First HoldCo suggest the banking re-rating is entering a stock-selective phase.

Macro Commentary

- The naira weakened modestly, with official USD/NGN closing at ₦1,376.22 (+0.48% WoW, ₦6.60 depreciation) while the parallel rate slid 2.45% to ~₦1,410.00, widening the spread to ₦33.78 — the week's most cautionary FX signal, suggesting bureau-market dollar demand outpacing official supply. Cross rates put GBP/NGN at ~₦1,844 and EUR/NGN at ~₦1,571 (derived from Friday's $1.3399 and $1.1416 majors closes). The naira remains 4.86% stronger YTD officially, underpinning Nigeria's dollar-terms equity outperformance.
- The CBN held the MPR at 26.50%, with May 2026 CPI at 15.93% YoY (up 0.24pp from 15.69% in April), a third consecutive monthly rise that reverses the disinflation trend. Tightening intensified through issuance: at the 8 Jul NTB auction the CBN allotted ₦1.06 trillion, raising the one-year stop rate sharply to 17.70% from 17.34% at the 17 Jun auction, part of a ₦2.0tn July programme implying ~₦1.35tn net liquidity withdrawal. The FGN 10-yr yield rose ~0.2pp to 18.54%.

- Brent firmed to $76.00/bbl (+5.0% WoW) on Strait of Hormuz disruptions, while Bonny Light eased to $71.63 — an atypical discount to Brent that likely reflects quote-timing differences between sources. Reserves rose $0.27bn to $51.72bn; gold eased to $4,111.50/oz.
- Events to watch next week: NBS June CPI release (~15 July); CBN NTB auction, ₦600bn offer (15 July); US June CPI and Fed Chair Warsh testimony (week of 13 July).

SECTION 8 | NIGERIA — MARKET METRICS & VALUATION

Valuation Metrics

Metric	Current (10 Jul 2026)	Prior Week (03 Jul 2026)	Change
Market P/E Ratio (large-cap, cap-weighted)	41.79	43.06	-1.27
Banking Sector avg P/E	17.88	17.95	-0.07
Consumer Goods avg P/E	58.61	58.25	+0.36
Oil & Gas avg P/E	36.85	36.87	-0.02
Market Dividend Yield (avg)	+3.75% (carried forward)	n/a	n/a

Methodology notes: “Market P/E” uses the NGX Main Board cap-weighted total (41.79x, from 43.06x last week), which excludes the Premium Board's extreme outliers (MTNN ~79,599.1x, up from ~73,702.8x; Dangote Cement ~1,664.8x, up from ~1,416.7x). Sector averages are simple (equal-weighted) averages of constituents across all boards that carry a reported P/E, excluding any individual constituent with a P/E above 100x as a statistical outlier — consistent with the same treatment applied to the headline Market P/E figure. Banking (7 constituents: ETI, Fidelity, GTCO, Sterling, Unity, UBA, Zenith) excludes Wema Bank (756.7x, from 681.0x) and Jaiz Bank (318.3x, from 276.8x), both likely distorted by post-recapitalisation EPS dilution. Consumer Goods (8 constituents) excludes Champion Breweries (1,320.9x), Guinness Nigeria (168.5x, from 187.2x), NASCON (148.1x), Northern Nigeria Flour Mills (145.0x), P.Z. Industries (180.7x), and Unilever Nigeria (314.7x). Oil & Gas (5 constituents) excludes TotalEnergies Marketing Nigeria (117.6x); Aradel Holdings remains excluded as it has no reported P/E. Prior Week figures are last week's Current values, rolled forward one period. Market Dividend Yield has no updated source this week and is carried forward unchanged; P/B is not derivable from the supplied NGX files. Corporate action note: Lafarge Africa Plc was renamed HBM Nigeria Plc this week with ticker change WAPCO → HBMNG (Premium Board, 116.9x — above the 100x exclusion threshold, from 101.5x).

Foreign Portfolio Investment (FPI)

Metric	Current (May-26)	Prior (Apr-26)	Trend
FPI Buy Value (₦ bn)	87.60	90.84	↓
FPI Sell Value (₦ bn)	96.01	156.94	↓
FPI Buy/Sell Ratio	0.91	0.58	↑
FPI Net Flow (₦ bn)	-8.41	-66.10	↑ (less negative)
FPI as % of Total Turnover	9.45%	13.74%	↓

Source: NGX Domestic & Foreign Portfolio Investment Report, May 2026 (published ≈ two weeks after month-end; May 2026 remains the latest available — the June 2026 report had not been published as of 13 July 2026, so this table is unchanged from last week's edition and will be refreshed when the June report lands). FPI values converted from ₦'Trillion to ₦'billion. Buy = foreign inflow (purchases); Sell = foreign outflow (sales/liquidation). Net Flow = inflow – outflow (negative = net foreign selling). FPI as % of total turnover uses total foreign transactions ÷ total market transactions for the month. Total foreign transactions fell to ₦0.18361tn in May (9.45% of the ₦1.94325tn market total) from ₦0.24778tn in April (13.74%), a 25.90% MoM decline in foreign activity — but the Buy/Sell Ratio improved to 0.91 from 0.58 and Net Flow improved to -₦8.41bn from -₦66.10bn, indicating foreign investors pulled back on both buying and selling, with selling easing far more than buying

Valuation Commentary

- The market trades at 41.79x (Main Board cap-weighted, down from 43.06x), with Banking at 17.88x the cheapest sector lens — Zenith (8.3x) and Access (8.9x) anchor deep value while First HoldCo (29.7x) and GTCO (17.7x) show recapitalisation-driven dispersion. Seplat (53.4x) and Nestle (75.7x) carry premium multiples; Consumer Goods averages 58.61x. DANGCEM at 1,664.8x and MTNN at 79,599.1x reflect thin reported earnings bases and are excluded from all averages as non-meaningful; BUA Foods carries no reported P/E in the NGX file.

- May FPI data (June pending) shows foreigners at just 9.45% of turnover — buy ₦87.60bn against sell ₦96.01bn, net -₦8.41bn. Selling collapsed from April's ₦156.94bn, lifting the buy/sell ratio to 0.91: foreign capitulation is fading, but conviction buying hasn't returned.

SECTION 9 | INVESTMENT THEME
Theme — Rotation Into Banks, Out of Cyclical

OBSERVATION	The market has pivoted from dividend plays to Q2 earnings positioning: Banking led weekly value traded (Financial Services: 79.48% of volume, 66.81% of value), with First HoldCo's ₦85.61bn single-day block and +25.82% WoW move signalling institutional accumulation ahead of 30 Jul board meetings. Oil & Gas (+8.11% WoW, +96.80% YTD) and Industrial Goods (+10.46% WoW) reasserted leadership while Insurance remains -4.74% YTD.
DRIVER	Recapitalisation flows and record net interest margins anchor bank earnings visibility, while FX-denominated revenue shields upstream energy (Brent $76.00, Seplat/Aradel). Breadth confirms conviction: 60 advancers vs 28 decliners, advance/decline at 2.14x from 0.39x.
IMPLICATION	An illustrative one-week tactical allocation favours Banking (~45%), Oil & Gas (~30%) and selective Industrial Goods (~25%) — liquidity, earnings momentum and post-correction re-entry respectively. Maintain an underweight in Insurance pending evidence of earnings acceleration.
RISK	The 364-day NTB stop rate at 17.70% (from 17.34%) and FGN 10-yr at 18.54% could re-divert institutional cash to fixed income; a Q2 earnings miss from FUGAZ names, Brent weakness, or parallel-market naira spread widening beyond ₦33.78 would invalidate the rotation.

SECTION 10 | OUTLOOK — SECTORAL VIEWS & EVENTS TO WATCH
Sectoral Outlook — Coming Week

Sector	View	Conviction	Rationale
Banking	OW	H	Recapitalisation flows, record NIMs, and Q2 earnings visibility anchor the trade — 4.78% WoW index gain, dominant liquidity (79.48% of market volume), and cheap valuations (Zenith 8.3x, Access 8.9x).
Consumer Goods	N	M	▲ 3.11% WoW but only ▲ 18.02% YTD as input-cost and FX pressures cap margins; selective exposure only to names showing earnings resilience (INTBREW ▲ 40.00% WoW rebound).
Oil & Gas	OW	M	Top sector YTD (▲ 96.80%) with dollar-denominated earnings shielded from naira dynamics; Aradel's ▲ 19.67% WoW recovery and Brent at $76.00 support momentum, though crude volatility warrants sizing discipline.
Industrial Goods	N	M	Best WoW sector (▲ 10.46%, ▲ 88.73% YTD) on cement strength, but extended YTD gains invite continued profit-taking; selective re-entry over broad exposure.
Insurance	UW	L	Sole negative-YTD major sector (▼ 4.74%), thin liquidity, no near-term catalyst; FTGINSURE reconstruction distortions add noise.
Telco (MTN/Airtel)	N	M	Airtel's record ₦5,801.40 close and MTNN's recovery to ₦810 confirm institutional interest into July 30 results, but the sector moves less sharply over one-week horizons.

OW = Overweight (expect outperformance) · N = Neutral · UW = Underweight · H/M/L = High/Medium/Low conviction

▲ BULLISH FACTORS

- Breadth reversal confirms rally quality: 60 advancers vs 28 decliners, advance/decline ratio at 2.14x from 0.39x, with value traded up +42.9% WoW to ₦220.57bn.
- Nigeria is the world's best-performing equity market in dollar terms (▲ 67% YTD per Bloomberg), with S&P DJI's 2027 Frontier reclassification watchlist offering a structural re-rating catalyst.
- Q2 earnings season begins with consensus expecting strong FUGAZ prints; First HoldCo's ₦85.61bn single-day institutional block signals conviction positioning ahead of its 30 Jul board meeting.

▼ BEARISH RISKS

- Fixed income re-pricing: the 364-day NTB stop rate jumped to 17.70% from 17.34%, with ₦2.0tn July issuance implying ~₦1.35tn net liquidity withdrawal that could drain equity flows.
- Parallel-market naira spread widened to ₦33.78 (parallel -2.45% WoW to ₦1,410) while CPI re-accelerated 0.24pp to 15.93% — FX stability underpinning the FPI story is fraying at the edges.
- The ASI has entered the 241,000–245,000 breakout band, roughly 3.4% below the May 2026 peak of 252,508.19; failure to clear 245,000 on volume risks a repeat of June's correction (▼ 11% peak-to-trough), amplified by Dangote Refinery IPO-related unwinding of non-core positions.

Events to Watch — Next Week

Date	Event Type	Details & Why It Matters
15 July	NBS June CPI release	A print above 15.93% pressures rate-sensitive banks and consumer names; a downside surprise fuels the equity rotation.
15 July	CBN NTB auction (N600bn offer)	A 364-day stop rate above 17.70% signals further fixed-income competition for equity flows; stable rates support banks.
Week of 13 July	US June CPI + Fed Chair Warsh testimony	Hawkish outcome pressures frontier risk appetite and FPI flows; dovish tilt supports the naira carry trade and NGX foreign participation.
Effective TBA	SEC/NGX minimum-trade-quantity rule	New tick-size framework (Group A $\geq$ 1,000; B $\geq$ 500–999; C $<$ 500) alters price discovery in thinly traded names; watch for distorted breadth signals.
