Report Date 14 Sep 2026	Coverage Period 07 Sep – 11 Sep 2026	Prepared By Equinox Research	Edition Vol. 1 No. 12
----------------------------	---	---------------------------------	--------------------------

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

- Brent breached $100 for the first time since late July and closed at $104.87, while the US 10-year Treasury yield rose to 4.9751%, leaving the S&P 500 ▼0.80% WoW.
- The NGX ASI fell ▼1.60% WoW to 243,052.74, trimming YTD return to ▲56.19% and capitalisation to ₦157.59tn on ₦130.15bn of weekly value traded, while Kenya's NSE led frontier Africa at ▲2.83%.
- Oil and Gas was the only sector higher at ▲2.83% on Seplat's ▲10.00% limit up to ₦14,907.80, while Insurance fell ▼5.52% and Fortis Global dropped ▼30.00% on 1.04bn shares.
- The naira weakened ▼0.36% to ₦1,326.23/$ officially while the parallel rate firmed to ₦1,390.00, narrowing the spread to 4.81% as reserves reached $54.13bn on 04 Sep, the highest since December 2008.
- Dangote Refinery's ₦2.15tn offer opened 14 Sep and FTSE Russell reclassification takes effect 21 Sep, against a July FPI net outflow of ₦49.44bn and MPR held at 26.50%.

Market Outlook — Coming Week

- Three important events converge around 21 and 22 September. FTSE Russell reclassification takes effect at the open, the 307th MPC convenes for two days, and Dangote Cement holds its London Capital Markets Day. Passive demand, a rate decision against a 17.12% FGN 10 year yield, and management guidance from the largest industrial name all land together, so single day index moves are likely to overstate the underlying trend.
- Breadth, not direction, is the number to watch. The advance/decline ratio fell to 0.07x from 2.13x, with 92 decliners against 6 advancers, yet volume rose to 3.10bn shares from 2.12bn. The combination of higher volume and sharply negative weekly breadth suggests concentrated selling in larger, more liquid names, although Friday's recovery to 31 gainers against 18 decliners indicates the week's weakness was not uniformly distributed.
- The Dangote Refinery offer could continue to absorb secondary market liquidity through 13 October. The order book runs four weeks, and the combined capitalisation of the four largest banks fell ₦1.00tn over the week, with First HoldCo alone accounting for ₦0.66tn. Cowry Asset Management expects continued selling across Insurance and Banking, so the Banking view remains a stock call, Zenith at 9.4x against First HoldCo at 58.4x, rather than an index call.
- Higher oil prices have mixed implications for Nigeria. Brent ▲8.65% and Bonny Light ▲24.19% support export receipts, FX supply and the ▲117.86% YTD Oil and Gas print, but feed domestic fuel and transport costs against July CPI of 15.43%. The NBS August CPI report, which follows the 17 August release of the July data, is the first read on whether the external gain is arriving faster than the inflation cost.

Global Markets Commentary

- ▲ Oil, not earnings, set the global tone. Brent breached $100 for the first time since late July and closed at $104.87 after a ▲6.64% Thursday spike, dragging developed equities lower and resetting the inflation path.
- ▼ Rate-hike repricing compounded the drag. Accelerating August CPI lifted 10-year Treasury yields to 4.9751%, the highest since October 2023, with market commentary on Friday citing roughly 70% odds of a September hike as already priced. S&P 500 ▼0.80% WoW to 7,656.98 (EODHD close; wire copy for the Friday session reports 7,656.85); STOXX 600 ▼1.66% to 639.10.
- ▲ Asia diverged sharply. KOSPI ▲3.33% WoW to 6,909.91 and ▲60.34% YTD stood against Nikkei 225 ▼1.55% and Shanghai Composite ▼1.07% to 3,888.11, the only index negative YTD at ▼3.36%. The KOSPI's YTD gain sits alongside a close 26.4% below its 52-week high of 9,385.59, so a substantial part of the earlier advance has already been given back.
- ▼ Momentum is deteriorating beneath firm YTD prints. Nikkei ▼3.47% MoM and Shanghai ▼2.46% MoM confirm a broad September fade, while gold's ▼1.88% decline across the week to $4,350.60 alongside higher Treasury yields suggests rising real yields were an important counterweight to safe haven demand.

Frontier Africa Commentary

EQUINOX FRONTIER MARKETS WEEKLY

Equinox Research · Institutional Markets Intelligence · Confidential

Week of: 11 September 2026

- ▲ Kenya led frontier Africa with NSE All Share ▲2.83% WoW to 244.72 and ▲7.14% MoM, the only market posting gains in both windows, extending YTD performance to ▲36.83% on a Ksh4.11tn capitalisation.
- ▼ Nigeria lagged at ▼1.60% WoW to 243,052.74, with Ghana ▼1.37% and JSE All Share ▼1.34% alongside. Ghana's ▼3.70% MoM marks the sharpest monthly fade despite a sector-leading ▲68.90% YTD.
- ▲ Naira strengthened where it matters: the parallel rate firmed 10.00 to ₦1,390.00 (▼0.72%), narrowing the premium over the ₦1,326.23 official rate to 4.81%, even as the official window weakened 4.80 WoW. Egypt and Ghana both saw depreciation, USD/EGP ▲1.04% and USD/GHS ▲1.42%.
- ▼ Divergence is macro-driven. South African GDP contracted 0.2% in Q2 2026 with mining ▼3.0% and manufacturing ▼1.8%, leaving the JSE the only index negative YTD at ▼0.58%. Ghana grew 6.0%, ICT contributing 41.5% of that expansion.

Market Snapshot Commentary

- The NGX All-Share Index shed 3,939.70 points to close at 243,052.74, a ▼1.60% WoW reversal from the prior week's ▲2.36% advance. Market capitalisation contracted ₦1.97tn to ₦157.59tn. YTD return compressed 253bps to ▲56.19% from ▲58.72%, though the index remains the strongest performer across the frontier Africa scoreboard on a year-to-date basis.
- Breadth deteriorated sharply. Advancers fell to 6 from 66 while decliners rose to 92 from 31, driving the advance/decline ratio to 0.07x from 2.13x across an unchanged 143-security universe. Volume told the opposite story: 3.10bn shares traded against 2.12bn prior, up 975.55m, and deals rose 21,493 to 244,777. Value traded on the exact series fell ₦80.18bn, or 38.1%, to ₦130.15bn from ₦210.33bn. The NGX also publishes an approximate series, ₦105.35bn against ₦138.63bn, and the two series are not interchangeable; this report uses the exact series throughout.
- Higher volume against sharply negative weekly breadth is consistent with concentrated selling in larger, more liquid names, although Friday's positive breadth of 31 gainers to 18 decliners shows the weakness was not uniform across the week. The ASI sits 4.34% below its 52-week high of 254,067.42 and 91.85% above the 126,689.54 low, both unchanged WoW.

Market Snapshot Commentary

- Oil & Gas was the sole sector to gain, ▲ 2.83% WoW to 5,817.36 and ▲ 10.69% MoM, extending YTD performance to ▲ 117.86%. Brent's move above $100 on US-Iran hostilities drove Aradel Holdings and Seplat Energy, the latter rallying 10.00% to ₦14,907.80 on Thursday. Insurance was the worst performer at ▼ 5.52% to 1,059.16, the only index negative YTD at ▼ 10.94%. Market commentary attributed part of the weakness to investors raising liquidity ahead of the ₦2.15tn Dangote Refinery offer opening 14 September, although profit taking after a strong run is an equally consistent explanation.
- Banking fell ▼ 4.07% to 2,528.80, with Tuesday alone taking the index down 5.29% as First HoldCo shed 9.30% and Access Holdings 7.06%. The sell-off appears partly liquidity driven ahead of the offer, although profit taking and positioning ahead of FTSE reclassification may also have contributed. Industrial Goods ▼ 3.36% tracked BUA Cement's 10.00% Wednesday limit-down.
- Banking's ▲ 22.16% Qtd against Consumer Goods ▼ 11.89% Qtd is consistent with a tactical rather than structural unwind, since the Qtd gain sits against ▼ 4.07% WoW and ▼ 3.63% MoM. Watch whether IPO allocations free financials to re-rate after the 21 September FTSE reclassification.

Week of: 11 September 2026

- Seplat Energy gained ▲ 10.00% to ₦14,907.80 on 396,067 shares and ₦5.62bn of value traded, a concentrated rather than broad based move.
- Fortis Global Insurance was both the week's largest decliner among ordinary shares and the largest volume print on the board, ▼ 30.00% to ₦1.40 on 1.04bn shares, roughly a third of the week's entire market volume.
- Value traded of ₦1,455.3m against 1.04bn shares implies an average price of ₦1.40, consistent with the close. The concentration in one small cap insurer alongside NEM ▼ 11.45% is consistent with potentially forced or liquidity driven selling rather than a fundamental repricing, although no fund flow evidence is available to confirm it.

Market Movers Commentary

- Large caps lagged. Seplat Energy was the segment's only gainer at ▲ 10.00% to ₦14,908 on a 70.1x P/E and ▲ 166% YTD, leaving financials to carry the drag: First HoldCo ▼ 9.30% to ₦136 and Access Holdings ▼ 6.67% to ₦28, both underperforming the Banking Index at ▼ 4.07%.
- Valuation dispersion is extreme. Zenith Bank trades at 9.4x against ▲ 93% YTD and Access at 10.3x, while Nestlé at 67.8x fell ▼ 6.51%. Four names closed flat, including MTN Nigeria and Dangote Cement.
- NM denotes a P/E above 100x, which reflects a depressed trailing earnings base and is not economically meaningful. MTN Nigeria and Dangote Cement are shown as NM; the underlying NGX file reports 79,707.2x and 1,644.1x respectively.

NGX Large Cap: Derived Market Capitalisation, YTD Performance and Sector

Light = 1 Jan base, dark = YTD gain, hatched = YTD decline. Closes of 11 Sep 2026, share counts scaled from NGX P/E file.

Market Movers Commentary

Airtel Africa held ₦23.68tn, unchanged at ₦6,300.00 for a third consecutive week, and remains the most capitalised stock on the NGX by a ₦6.23tn margin. Dangote Cement retained second at ₦17.45tn, flat at ₦1,034.00 for a sixth consecutive week, while MTN Nigeria closed at ₦17.28tn, unchanged at ₦813.00, narrowing the gap to Dangote Cement to ₦0.17tn. Capitalisations are derived by applying 11 Sep 2026 closes to share counts implied by the NGX P/E file, other than Airtel, MTN, BUA Foods and GTCO, which are the published figures. The prior week's chart applied an MTN close of ₦808.00 while the NGX movers file reports ₦813.00 for 04 Sep, so the ₦0.11tn week on week change in MTN's capitalisation reflects that ₦5.00 difference in the prior-week base rather than a price move during the week.

- Telecoms (blue): Airtel Africa ₦23.68tn at ₦6,300.00 (▲ +178% YTD), flat on 78,365 shares; MTNN ₦17.28tn at ₦813.00 (▲ +59% YTD), flat on 12.37m shares and ₦10.14bn traded.
- Industrial (green): Dangote Cement ₦17.45tn, unchanged at ₦1,034.00 (▲ +70% YTD) on 2.54m shares, against an Industrial Goods Index down ▼ 3.36% WoW.
- Consumer goods (pink): BUA Foods ₦13.69tn at ₦760.60, unchanged for a fourth week and still the only large cap negative YTD at ▼ 5%. Nestlé ₦2.22tn at ₦2,800.00 (▼ 6.51%, 67.8x), lagging the Consumer Goods Index at ▼ 2.55%.
- Oil and gas (amber): Seplat ₦8.94tn at ₦14,907.80 after a second ▲ +10.00% limit up, adding ₦0.81tn of capitalisation on 396,067 shares (▲ +166% YTD, 70.1x).

EQUINOX FRONTIER MARKETS WEEKLY

Week of: 11 September 2026

- Banking (purple): First HoldCo ₦6.41tn at ₦136.00 (▼ 9.30% WoW, ▲ +179% YTD, 58.4x); Zenith ₦5.19tn at ₦124.50 (▼ 3.19%, 9.4x); GTCO ₦4.75tn at ₦129.90 (▼ 2.11%, 18.3x); Access ₦1.49tn at ₦28.00 (▼ 6.67%, 10.3x).

Leadership narrowed sharply against last week. One of the ten names rose, four were flat and five fell, versus nine flat or higher a week ago, and aggregate capitalisation across the ten slipped ₦0.23tn to ₦101.10tn. The composition is the story: Seplat added ₦0.81tn and MTN ₦0.11tn, while the four banks shed a combined ₦1.00tn and Nestlé ₦0.15tn. First HoldCo alone accounted for ₦0.66tn of that, its ▼ 9.30% fall reversing the prior week's advance as investors appear to have raised liquidity ahead of the ₦2.15tn Dangote Refinery subscription opening 14 Sep. The valuation spread persists even after the selloff, First HoldCo at 58.4x against Zenith at 9.4x on the same NGX earnings basis. Airtel Africa's ₦23.68tn ranking rests on 78,365 shares traded for the week, so its index weight continues to outrun its weekly liquidity, and Seplat's ₦8.94tn now sits within ₦1.53tn of overtaking First HoldCo and Zenith combined on capitalisation while trading a fraction of their volume.

MPC / NBS Event This Week	No MPC or NBS release fell in the week of 07 to 11 Sep 2026. The CBN's 307th MPC meets on 21 and 22 Sep 2026. The NBS August CPI report is expected in the week of 14 Sep, following the 17 Aug release of the July data, which printed 15.43% against June's 15.91%.

Macro Commentary

- The naira weakened ▼₦4.80 at the official window to ₦1,326.23 while the parallel rate firmed ▼₦10.00 to ₦1,390.00, compressing the spread to ₦63.77, or 4.81%, from 6.46% two weeks earlier. Direction diverged by venue rather than by trend: NFEM turnover reached $1.45bn on 10 Sep, ▲167.2% on the prior session and the strongest daily print since 21 Jul, and the CBN sold $151m to banks on 11 Sep. Sterling weakened ▼0.44% to ₦1,787.76 against a euro ▲0.30% at ₦1,538.16. Official YTD naira appreciation stands at 8.31%. The official rate throughout this report is the NAFEM official close of ₦1,326.23 carried on the market data feed; CBN session prints for the same day differ by under ₦2.30 and are not mixed into this series.
- The MPR held at 26.50% for a third consecutive meeting, unchanged since the 50bp cut in February. July CPI at 15.43% extends the disinflation run from 15.91% in June, leaving a real policy rate above 1,100bp. The FGN 10 year yield is carried at 17.12% as at 03 Sep 2026, the latest available mark, and is dated accordingly in the dashboard.
- Crude did the work this week. Brent ▲8.65% to $104.61 and Bonny Light ▲24.19% to $121.90 on Middle East shipping attacks, putting Bonny Light at a $17.29 premium to Brent. That premium is far wider than the historical $1 to $4 range, but it is consistent with the pattern through this conflict: Nigerian light sweet grades approached $120 in March 2026, with European refiners reported paying between $112 and $122 as Middle East supply was displaced. The figure is a manual dashboard input rather than an assessed differential and carries a wider error margin than the rest of this table. Reserves rose to $54.13bn as at 04 Sep, the highest since December 2008 on CBN data, ▲30.31% YoY.
- Events to watch next week: the NBS August 2026 CPI report, expected in the week of 14 September following the 17 August release of the July data; CBN 307th MPC meeting, 21 and 22 Sep; Dangote Refinery IPO subscription window, opened 14 Sep and running to 13 Oct.

Source: NGX Current Equity P/E Ratios files of 11 Sep 2026 and 04 Sep 2026. Methodology note: the ratio NGX publishes as the Main Board Market Total (39.81 on 11 Sep 2026) is the sum, across constituents, of market capitalisation divided by total market capitalisation on all boards, multiplied by that constituent's P/E. On 11 Sep 2026 the implied denominator is approximately ₦161.87tn against a Main Board capitalisation of ₦93.08tn, and only ₦32.80tn of Main Board capitalisation carries a published P/E. The published figure is therefore a coverage-limited weighted contribution, not a cap-weighted market P/E, and is retained here only for continuity with prior issues. Equinox recomputes a cap-weighted trailing P/E over the covered Main Board universe as total covered capitalisation divided by total covered earnings, where earnings are derived as capitalisation divided by the published P/E. Coverage on 11 Sep 2026 is 78 of 126 Main Board lines. Sector figures are equal-weighted trailing P/E across constituents reporting usable data, excluding any constituent above 100x. Banking covers 9 of 11 bank and bank-holdco lines across the Main, Premium and Non-Interest boards, excluding Wema at 766.8x and Jaiz at 280.3x. Consumer Goods covers 7 of 13 Main Board lines, up from 6 of 13 on 04 Sep as Cadbury re-entered the screen at 91.3x; the sector average therefore rises partly on a composition change rather than on a re-rating alone. Oil & Gas covers 5 of 6 lines across the Main and Premium boards, excluding TotalEnergies at 105.8x. Both weeks are recomputed on this basis and are not comparable with the 14 Aug 2026 edition carried in prior issues. Market Dividend Yield is unchanged from 14 Aug 2026 and is flagged as carried forward, not as a fresh observation.

Foreign Portfolio Investment (FPI)

Metric	Current (Jul-26)	Prior (Jun-26)	Trend
FPI Buy Value (₦ bn)	41.59	71.71	↓
FPI Sell Value (₦ bn)	91.03	115.08	↑

FPI Net Flow (₦ bn)	-49.44	-43.37	↓ (more negative)
FPI as % of Total Turnover	5.60%	10.90%	↓

Valuation Commentary

- The NGX published figure of 39.81x is not a conventional market P/E. On the Equinox covered universe calculation the Main Board trailing P/E is 29.0x, or 18.7x once constituents above 100x are excluded, and 18.7x is the benchmark used throughout this report. Banking at 21.6x sits above that benchmark, but the sector average is equal weighted across nine usable observations and is therefore pulled up by its highest multiple constituents. Zenith at 9.4x and Access at 10.3x trade at roughly half the benchmark while First HoldCo at 58.4x carries a 49 point premium to Zenith on the same NGX earnings basis, a gap that widened as First HoldCo fell 9.30% this week. Excluding it, the three remaining names average 12.7x. Seplat at 70.1x and Nestlé at 67.8x imply expectations of earnings recovery that are not yet visible in trailing earnings.

- Dangote Cement at 1,644.1x and MTN Nigeria at 79,707.2x rest on depressed trailing earnings bases, are shown as NM in the large cap table and are excluded from every recomputed figure. BUA Foods carries no published P/E in the 11 Sep NGX file.
- Foreign participation collapsed in July. Buying fell to ₦41.59bn against ₦91.03bn of selling, a net outflow of ₦49.44bn, and foreign share of turnover dropped to 5.60% from 10.90% in June as total transactions rose 38.17% to ₦2.37tn. Domestic institutions absorbed the gap, up 66.18% MoM to ₦1.65tn. The FTSE reclassification is a September catalyst against a July flow base that is deteriorating, not stabilising.

SECTION 9 | INVESTMENT THEME
Theme

OBSERVATION	The Dangote Refinery IPO opened 14 Sep at ₦525 across 4.1bn shares, gross proceeds of ₦2.15tn, and the NGX has already repriced around it. Insurance fell ▼5.52% and Banking ▼4.07% on the week as investors appear to have raised liquidity, with Tuesday alone taking Banking down 5.29%. Oil & Gas moved the other way, ▲2.83% WoW and ▲117.86% YTD, while the ASI shed ▼1.60% to 243,052.74 on breadth of 6 advancers against 92 decliners.
DRIVER	The refinery reported H1 2026 net income of $1.82bn against a FY2025 loss of $476m. At ₦525 the offer implies an equity value of ₦63.07tn on the 120.13bn shares registered with the SEC and ₦65.22tn on enlarged capital of 124.23bn shares, against gross proceeds of ₦2.15tn. Two structural events land inside eight days: the subscription window to 13 Oct and FTSE Russell Frontier reclassification on 21 Sep. Brent above $100 has lifted Aradel and Seplat, the latter ▲10.00% to ₦14,907.80.
IMPLICATION	Energy is becoming an increasingly important driver of Nigeria's equity narrative. At the offer price the refinery's post money equity value of ₦65.22tn compares with NGX capitalisation of ₦157.59tn, so admission in November would materially enlarge the market, even though only ₦2.15tn of stock, 3.30% of enlarged share capital, is being offered to the public. The bank derating appears largely liquidity driven rather than earnings driven, though profit taking and FTSE positioning may also have contributed: Zenith at 9.4x and Access at 10.3x against an 18.7x benchmark price in no such distinction. Improved reserves and a narrower parallel market premium strengthen the FX leg of the foreign investor case.
RISK	Higher oil cuts both ways. Brent ▲8.65% WoW feeds domestic fuel and transport costs, and with headline CPI at 15.43% and MPR held at 26.50%, a food led reacceleration would keep fixed income competitive against equities and delay any bank re rating. An undersubscribed or repriced offer, a November listing slip, or FTSE flows that arrive smaller than expected would each remove a leg. Watch the 21 and 22 Sep MPC and the August CPI print expected in the week of 14 September.

SECTION 10 | OUTLOOK — SECTORAL VIEWS & EVENTS TO WATCH
Sectoral Outlook — Coming Week

Sector	View	Conviction	Rationale
Banking	OW	M	Zenith at 9.4x and Access at 10.3x sit at roughly half the 18.7x benchmark after a ▼4.07% WoW derating that appears largely liquidity driven, and the sector is the most liquid proxy for FTSE inclusion flows from 21 Sep. Conviction is Medium rather than High because the subscription window runs to 13 Oct and the scale of index flows is not yet observable.
Consumer Goods	UW	M	The sector fell ▼2.55% WoW and ▼11.89% QtD, Nestlé at 67.8x fell ▼6.51%, and BUA Foods remains the only large cap negative YTD at ▼5%. The 59.40x equal weighted sector average is affected by composition, since Cadbury re-entered the screen this week, and is not used as the basis for the view.
Oil & Gas	OW	M	Brent ▲8.65% to $104.61 and Bonny Light ▲24.19% to $121.90 drove the only positive sector print at ▲2.83% WoW, and the November Dangote Refinery listing adds a large index eligible name to a sector of six. After a ▲117.86% YTD gain the call now rests on the oil price and the listing catalyst rather than on valuation support.
Industrial Goods	N	L	The index fell ▼3.36% WoW on BUA Cement's 10.00% limit down, but Dangote Cement has been flat at ₦1,034.00 for six weeks and its trailing multiple is shown as NM, so the sector cannot be read on trailing earnings; the 21 Sep Capital Markets Day is the next catalyst.
Insurance	UW	M	Worst performer at ▼5.52% WoW and the only sector negative YTD at ▼10.94%, with Fortis Global ▼30.00% on 1.04bn shares and NEM ▼11.45% consistent with potentially forced or liquidity driven selling, while recapitalisation listings keep expanding share counts.
Telco (MTN/Airtel)	N	L	Airtel Africa and MTN Nigeria were both flat on the week at ₦6,300.00 and ₦813.00 and together hold ₦40.96tn of capitalisation on combined weekly volume of 12.45m shares. The contrast between large index weights and limited weekly trading volume raises implementation costs for large passive or benchmark sensitive flows.

OW = Overweight (expect outperformance) · N = Neutral · UW = Underweight · H/M/L = High/Medium/Low conviction

▲ BULLISH FACTORS

- External reserves at $54.13bn as at 04 Sep, the highest since December 2008 on CBN data and ▲30.31% YoY, with the parallel premium compressed to 4.81% from 6.46% two weeks earlier and NFEM turnover at $1.45bn on 10 Sep, the strongest daily print since 21 Jul.
- FTSE Russell Frontier Market reclassification effective 21 Sep, arriving with the ASI at ▲56.19% YTD and 4.34% below its 52 week high of 254,067.42, leaving room for index eligible names to absorb inflows.

▼ BEARISH RISKS

- Weekly breadth was sharply negative at an advance/decline ratio of 0.07x against 2.13x the prior week, with 92 decliners against 6 advancers, so the week's ▲2.83% Oil & Gas gain rests on a handful of names rather than broad participation.
- MPR held at 26.50% against July CPI of 15.43% leaves a real policy rate above 1,100bp, and Brent ▲8.65% WoW feeds domestic fuel and transport costs that could reverse the disinflation run.
- Selling pressure ahead of the offer may not be finished: the subscription window runs to 13 Oct,

- The Dangote Refinery offer implies a post money equity value of ₦65.22tn against current NGX capitalisation of ₦157.59tn, so admission at the offer price would materially enlarge the market, even though only ₦2.15tn, or 3.30% of enlarged share capital, is offered. H1 2026 net income was $1.82bn against a FY2025 loss of $476m.

and Cowry Asset Management expects continued selling across Insurance and Banking, the two weakest sectors of the week.

Events to Watch — Next Week

Date	Event Type	Details & Why It Matters
21 Sep 2026	FTSE Russell Frontier reclassification effective at market open, and Dangote Cement Capital Markets Day in London	Index eligible large caps, particularly Banking and Oil & Gas, are the first recipients of any passive demand; Dangote Cement management guidance is the only near term read on a trailing multiple shown as NM.
w/c 14 Sep 2026	NBS releases August CPI, following July at 15.43% YoY	A further deceleration would strengthen the case for a hold or a dovish tilt at the MPC and would support the naira-led equity bid; a reacceleration would revive hike risk into the reclassification date. The July report was released on 17 August 2026, so the August report is expected in the week commencing 14 September.
21 to 22 Sep 2026	CBN MPC meeting	A hold at 26.50% is the base case; any hawkish shift on oil driven inflation pressures Banking and Consumer Goods multiples directly.
