INSTITUTIONAL MARKET INTELLIGENCE

Nigeria

Report Date 31 Aug 2026	Coverage Period 24 Aug – 28 Aug 2026	Prepared By Equinox Research	Edition Vol. 1 No. 10
-----------------------------------	--	--	---------------------------------

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

- Hawkish Fed repricing dominated global markets, with Warsh's Jackson Hole remarks lifting the US 10-year to 4.72% and the dollar index ▲0.50% to 99.66, while the S&P 500 still closed ▲0.49% WoW at 7,711.76.
- Nigeria's NGX ASI closed ▲0.81% at 241,298.47 for a ₦1.29tn capitalisation gain to ₦155.83tn, after FTSE Russell confirmed reclassification to Frontier Market status effective 21 Sep 2026.
- Oil & Gas led sectors ▲4.54% to 5,185.35 on Seplat's ▲10.00% limit-up to ₦12,320.60, while Insurance fell ▼0.63% and remains the only sector negative YTD at ▼9.23%.
- The naira firmed ▲0.50% to ₦1,340.40/$ with reserves at a 17-year high of $53.31bn, though the CBN absorbed ₦4.72tn via OMO at stop rates of 20.15% to 20.35%.
- Breadth contradicts the headline, with 58 decliners against 21 advancers and volume ▼59.8% to 2.51bn shares, leaving September's foreign inflows as the decisive test.

Market Outlook — Coming Week

- Full five-session trading resumes next week following the Eid el Maulud closure on 25 Aug 2026, and the ₦123.22bn weekly turnover base is low enough that any normalisation will exaggerate apparent momentum.
- FTSE indicative review files begin publication 2 Sep 2026, giving the first read on Nigerian constituent weights and implied passive demand ahead of the 21 Sep 2026 effective date.
- Banking should retain leadership on ▲22.94% QtD momentum and 9.1x to 10.5x multiples on Zenith and Access, but the durability of Friday's rally depends on buying broadening beyond the tier-one banks.
- The binding constraint remains domestic: OMO stop rates of 20.15% to 20.35% compete directly for the institutional balance sheet that supplied ₦1.65tn of July NGX turnover, with foreign participation at just 5.60%.

Global Markets Commentary

- Hawkish Fed repricing dominated the week. Warsh's Jackson Hole remarks lifted the 10-year yield to 4.72% from 4.63% on Tuesday and drove the dollar index ▲0.50% to 99.66 on Friday, capping global equity gains.
- Equities still finished higher despite the rate scare. Shanghai led ▲1.20% WoW to 3,952.18, Nikkei ▲0.59% to 66,405.56 and S&P 500 ▲0.49% to 7,711.76, with STOXX 600 ▲0.15%.
- Havens and crude both retreated. Spot gold ▼3.03% Friday to $4,461.51, unwinding Tuesday's $4,665.94 peak, while Brent fell ▼5.4% WoW to $89.31 on Strait of Hormuz reopening speculation.
- Nvidia's forecast produced a single session tech surge, Nasdaq ▲1.57% Thursday to 26,541.35, before a ▼0.52% Friday retracement. KOSPI diverged ▼1.79% WoW, leaving it 27.7% below its 52-week high.

Frontier Africa Commentary

- Kenya led the continent ▲1.47% WoW to 248.28 on the NSE All Share, extending a ▲5.61% MoM run, while Ghana's GSE Composite was the sole decliner ▼0.72% to 15,022.00 despite retaining the region's strongest YTD gain at ▲71.24%.
- Nigeria's NGX ASI closed ▲0.81% at 241,298.47, but the ▼1.62% MoM contraction against ▲55.06% YTD signals August profit-taking at a ₦155.83tn market cap. FTSE Russell confirmed Nigeria's return to Frontier Market status effective 21 Sep 2026.

EQUINOX FRONTIER MARKETS WEEKLY

Equinox Research · Institutional Markets Intelligence · Confidential

Week of: 28 August 2026

- FX divergence widened. The naira strengthened ▼0.50% WoW to ₦1,340.40/$ official and ▼7.33% YTD, with the parallel rate unchanged at ₦1,405.00, narrowing the spread to 4.82%. The rand weakened ▲1.01% to 16.18 and cedi ▲1.13% to 11.23.
- Domestic debt issuance remains the binding regional constraint. African public debt reached $1.83tn in 2024 from $510bn in 2008, with domestic debt's share rising from 30% in 2017 to above 40% in 2022, crowding out private credit at 8% to 15% borrowing costs.

Market Snapshot Commentary

- The NGX All-Share Index closed at 241,298.47, up 1,947.31 points or ▲0.81% WoW, reversing the prior week's ▼1.35% decline and lifting YTD return to ▲55.06% from ▲53.81%. Market capitalisation rose ₦1,292bn to ₦155,826bn. The advance is index-level rather than broad-based: gains were concentrated in a small number of heavyweight counters, since only 21 of 143 securities in the breadth universe advanced.
- Liquidity contracted sharply. Volume fell to 2.51bn shares from 6.24bn, a ▼59.8% drop, while value traded declined ₦34.54bn to ₦123.22bn, ▼21.9% WoW. Deals fell 12,935 to 173,561, ▼6.9%. The divergence between a 59.8% volume decline and a 21.9% value decline lifted the average traded price to ₦49.1 from ₦25.3, consistent with rotation into high-priced large caps.
- Breadth remains weak despite the index gain. The advance/decline ratio improved to 0.36x from 0.31x, but 58 decliners against 21 advancers keeps participation narrow. The ASI sits 5.0% below its 52-week high of 254,067.42 and 90.5% above the 126,689.54 low.

Market Snapshot Commentary

- Oil & Gas led all sectors ▲4.54% WoW to 5,185.35. The gain was highly concentrated rather than broad-based, led by Seplat Energy's ▲10.00% limit-up move to ₦12,320.60 on Friday, which alone lifted the index ▲4.73% that session. TotalEnergies Marketing fell the maximum ▼10.00% to ₦576.00 the same day, so sector strength is narrow rather than structural. YTD the index is ▲94.19%, the best on the exchange.
- Insurance was the weakest ▼0.63% to 1,079.54, and the only sector negative YTD at ▼9.23%. Continued repricing following the sector's recapitalisation requirements has compressed valuations, with ▼10.04% MoM confirming sustained de-rating rather than a short-term correction. Consumer Goods was similarly soft ▼0.67% to 4,012.83, its ▼12.66% Qtd the worst quarterly print on the board.
- Banking ▲2.89% to 2,544.92 was the second strongest, with a near-clean sweep across the tier-one banks on Friday and First HoldCo ▲11.58% WoW to ₦145.00 after the FTSE Russell reclassification confirmation.
- Rotation is running from defensives into cyclicals and index-inclusion beneficiaries. Watch whether Banking's ▲22.94% Qtd momentum holds into the 21 Sep 2026 reclassification date or fades on profit-taking.

Market Movers Commentary

- First HoldCo topped weekly value traded at ₦22.59bn and rose ▲ 11.58% WoW to ₦145.00, with the bulk of that move occurring in the two sessions after the FTSE Russell announcement.
- International Energy Insurance ▼ 26.61% to ₦2.84 on 28.16m shares was the week's largest decliner, consistent with continued repricing following the sector's recapitalisation requirements. Fidson Healthcare ▼ 18.97% to ₦75.80 fell on two consecutive limit-down sessions with no disclosed corporate trigger.

Market Movers Commentary

- Large caps lagged the ▲0.81% ASI over a four-session week, with Airtel Africa, Dangote Cement and BUA Foods unchanged and Zenith Bank ▼0.82% to ₦121.00 despite the Banking Index gaining ▲2.89%. First HoldCo ▲11.58% to ₦145.00 and Seplat ▲10.00% to ₦12,320.60 carried the segment. Access Holdings ▲9.26% to ₦29.50 remains the cheapest financial at 10.5x, against Zenith at 9.1x and GTCO at 18.2x.
- Reported multiples for MTN Nigeria (76,061x) and Dangote Cement (1,644x) are not meaningful on a trailing P/E basis given near-zero trailing EPS. All closes are 28 Aug 2026; weekly bases are the 21 Aug 2026 closes implied by the NGX weekly file.

NGX Large Cap: Derived Market Capitalisation, YTD Performance and Sector

Light = 1 Jan base · dark = YTD gain (Ntn) · hatched = YTD decline — closes of 28 Aug 2026, share counts scaled from NGX P/E file

Market Movers Commentary

Airtel Africa held N23.68tn, unchanged at N6,300.00 for the week, and remains the most capitalised stock on the NGX by a N6.23tn margin. Dangote Cement retained second at N17.45tn, flat at N1,034.00 for a fourth consecutive week, while MTN Nigeria slipped to N16.25tn on ▼0.64% to N774.00, taking it N0.65tn below the N16.90tn recorded at 14 Aug 2026. Capitalisations are derived by applying 28 Aug 2026 closes to share counts implied by the NGX P/E file of 14 Aug 2026. NGX has not published a capitalisation file for 28 Aug 2026, so these are derived rather than official figures.

- Telecoms (blue) — Airtel Africa N23.68tn at N6,300.00 (▲178% YTD), flat on 68,504 shares; MTNN N16.25tn at N774.00 (▲52% YTD), the week's only large-cap telecom decline.
- Industrial (green) — Dangote Cement N17.45tn, unchanged at N1,034.00 (▲70% YTD), with the Industrial Goods Index flat at ▲0.00% WoW.
- Consumer goods (pink) — BUA Foods N13.69tn at N760.60, unchanged and still the only large cap negative YTD at ▼5%. Nestlé N2.24tn at N2,830.00 (▼0.35%), against a Consumer Goods Index down ▼0.67%.
- Oil & gas (amber) — Seplat N7.39tn at N12,320.60 after a ▲10.00% limit-up Friday, adding N0.67tn of capitalisation in one session (▲100% YTD, 57.9x).
- Banking (purple) — First HoldCo N6.84tn at N145.00 (▲11.58% WoW, ▲177% YTD, 62.3x); Zenith N5.05tn at N121.00 (9.1x); GTCO N4.74tn at N129.00 (18.2x); Access N1.57tn at N29.50 (▲6.48%, 10.5x).

Leadership rotated out of the single telecom counter flagged last week. Airtel added nothing, and the ▲0.81% index gain came instead from Seplat and the banks, which together account for roughly N1.2tn of the week's N1.29tn capitalisation increase. Concentration has not resolved so much as moved: seven of the ten names were flat or lower before Thursday's session, and the entire weekly advance was compressed into the two sessions following the FTSE Russell announcement. BUA Foods remains the outlier, still N0.72tn below its 1 January base on a free float of roughly 5%.

Macro Commentary

- The naira strengthened for a second consecutive week, with the official rate at ₦1,340.40/$ (▲ 0.50% WoW) and the parallel rate unchanged at ₦1,405.00. The spread narrowed to ₦64.60, or 4.82%, the tightest convergence of the year and consistent with ▼ 7.33% YTD official appreciation. Cross rates closed at GBP/NGN ₦1,826.95 (▼ 0.68% WoW) and EUR/NGN ₦1,567.85 (▲ 0.05%).
- Policy remains on hold with the MPR at 26.5% since 21 Jul 2026, and no MPC meeting or NBS release fell in the week. July CPI at 15.43% YoY, down 48bps from 15.91%, extends the disinflation trend and widens the real policy rate to 11.07pp. The FGN 10-year yield was effectively unchanged at 17.12% against 17.13%, holding a real yield of 1.69pp. The CBN mopped up ₦4.72tn through OMO sales across two sessions at stop rates of 20.15% to 20.35%, sustaining the fixed-income competition for equity flows that has held foreign participation at 5.60% of NGX turnover.
- Brent fell $5.08 to $89.31/bbl, ▼ 5.4% WoW, on Strait of Hormuz reopening speculation and hawkish Fed repricing. Bonny Light held a wide $8.85 premium at $98.16/bbl, though the 14 Aug 2026 print is two weeks old. Reserves rose $0.45bn to $53.31bn, having crossed $53bn on 24 August for a 17-year high. Gold closed at $4,461.51/oz after a ▼ 3.03% Friday reversal.
- Events to watch next week: FTSE Russell indicative review file publication for the Frontier Index Series (2 Sep 2026); resumption of full five-session trading after the Eid el Maulud closure of 25 Aug 2026; and the CBN OMO auction calendar for early September, with the ₦4.72tn absorbed in late August setting the near-term liquidity baseline.

Valuation Commentary

- On the NGX P/E file of 14 Aug 2026, Banking's 18.12x sector average conceals a spread of nearly seven times between constituents. Zenith at 9.22x and Access at 9.61x trade at roughly half GTCO's 18.10x, while First HoldCo at 60.13x sits outside the Banking average by NGX classification. The -0.15 weekly move reflects price compression against a ▲ 1.48% decline rather than earnings revision. Seplat at 52.66x and Nestlé at 67.79x offer no valuation support, and the Consumer Goods average of 57.42x rests on Cadbury's 96.80x re-rating. Dangote Cement at 1,644.11x and MTN at 76,061.32x are not meaningful on a trailing P/E basis given near-zero trailing EPS, and BUA Foods publishes no P/E against ₦13.69tn of capitalisation.
- Foreign participation collapsed in July. Buying fell to ₦41.59bn against ₦91.03bn of selling, a net outflow of ₦49.44bn, and foreign share of turnover dropped to 5.60% from 10.90% in June as total transactions rose 38.17% to ₦2.37tn. Domestic institutions absorbed the gap, up 66.18% MoM to ₦1.65tn. The FTSE reclassification is a September catalyst against a July flow base that is deteriorating, not stabilising.

Theme — Banking Outperformance Despite Elevated Fixed-Income Yields

OBSERVATION	Nigerian equities and naira fixed income are now competing directly for the same domestic pool, and fixed income is winning on price. The CBN absorbed ₦4.72tn via OMO across two August sessions at yields approaching 20%, and the DMO cancelled one August NTB auction after ₦4.69tn of absorption. Against this, the ASI is ▼ 1.62%
--------------------	---

	MoM despite ▲55.06% YTD, with market capitalisation down roughly ₦2.5tn over the month.
DRIVER	The CBN reopened OMO participation to individuals, corporates and non-bank financial institutions in August and reinstated tenored repo operations, creating a high-grade naira fixed-income alternative at OMO stop rates of 20.15% to 20.35% against an FGN 10-year at 17.12% and a Main Board screened P/E of 25.30x. Domestic institutions supplied ₦1.65tn of July NGX turnover, up 66.18% MoM, and that same balance sheet capacity is what OMO now bids for. Foreign flows offer no offset: July FPI turned ₦49.44bn net negative at 5.60% of turnover.
IMPLICATION	Index level is a poor guide to what is happening underneath. Breadth confirms it, with 58 decliners against 21 advancers this week and an advance/decline ratio of 0.36x while the ASI rose ▲0.81%. Positioning should favour companies whose earnings growth, dividend capacity and valuation together compensate for the elevated risk-free rate: tier-one banks at 9.1x to 10.5x on Zenith and Access meet that test, while Consumer Goods faces a demanding valuation backdrop at a 57.42x average and ▼12.66% QtD. Track NIM, loan growth, cost of risk and capital ratios rather than headline EPS.
RISK	The thesis breaks if FTSE Russell reclassification on 21 September delivers genuine passive and active foreign inflows rather than merely confirming the positioning implied by the ₦1.67tn of market capitalisation added over 27 to 28 Aug 2026, since index-driven demand could prove price-insensitive and may override the domestic opportunity-cost argument. The thesis also cuts both ways within the sector: elevated OMO rates raise deposit competition and funding costs for the banks themselves, so the same liquidity tightening that supports treasury income can compress margins and loan growth. It also breaks if disinflation accelerates from July's 15.43% and the CBN eases from 26.5%, compressing OMO yields and reversing the rotation. Continued naira stability at ₦1,340.40/$ with reserves at $53.31bn, plus Moody's positive outlook shift at B3, would strengthen the USD-return case for equities independent of the yield comparison.

SECTION 10 | OUTLOOK — SECTORAL VIEWS & EVENTS TO WATCH
Sectoral Outlook — Coming Week

Sector	View	Conviction	Rationale
Banking	OW	H	Cheapest large-cap segment at 9.1x Zenith and 10.5x Access against a 25.30x screened market, with ▲22.94% QtD momentum and the sector positioned as a likely beneficiary of any index-tracker demand from 21 Sep 2026, subject to final constituent weights and free floats.
Consumer Goods	UW	H	Worst quarterly print on the board at ▼12.66% QtD on a 57.42x sector average that rests on Cadbury's 96.80x re-rating, and a demanding valuation backdrop against OMO stop rates above 20%.
Oil & Gas	N	M	▲94.19% YTD and a 4.54% weekly gain conceal an unusually narrow base, with Seplat's ▲10.00% limit-up offset by TotalEnergies Marketing's ▼10.00% limit-down in the same session and Brent down $5.08 to $89.31/bbl.
Industrial Goods	N	M	Flat at ▲0.00% WoW for a second week with Dangote Cement unchanged at ₦1,034.00, and a reported 1,644.11x multiple means the sector is not meaningful on a trailing P/E basis.
Insurance	UW	H	Only sector negative YTD at ▼9.23% and ▼10.04% MoM, with recapitalisation requirements still driving repricing across small and mid caps such as International Energy Insurance at ▼26.61% WoW.
Telco (MTN/Airtel)	N	L	Airtel Africa's ₦23.68tn capitalisation and ▲178% YTD sit on 68,504 shares of weekly volume, while MTN's ▼0.64% to ₦774.00 and 76,061x reported multiple leave the sector illiquid at one end and not meaningful on a trailing P/E basis at the other.

OW = Overweight (expect outperformance) · N = Neutral · UW = Underweight · H/M/L = High/Medium/Low conviction

▲ BULLISH FACTORS

- FTSE Russell reclassification to Frontier Market status confirmed for 21 September, with indicative review files from 2 Sep 2026 and ₦1.67tn of NGX market capitalisation added across 27 to 28 Aug 2026 following the announcement.
- Reserves at $53.31bn, up $0.45bn WoW and through $53bn on 24 August for a 17-year high, with the official naira at ₦1,340.40/$ and the parallel spread compressed to 4.82%.
- Disinflation intact at 15.43% YoY for July from 15.91%, widening the real policy rate to 11.07pp and creating room for eventual MPR easing from 26.5%.

▼ BEARISH RISKS

- Breadth contradicts the index: 58 decliners against 21 advancers, an advance/decline ratio of 0.36x, and volume down ▼59.8% WoW to 2.51bn shares on a ▲0.81% ASI gain.
- CBN absorbed ₦4.72tn via OMO in two sessions at stop rates of 20.15% to 20.35%, and OMO participation is now open to individuals, corporates and non-bank financials, directly bidding for the domestic institutional balance sheet that supplied ₦1.65tn of July turnover.
- Foreign participation collapsed to 5.60% of July turnover from 10.90% in June, with net FPI outflow of ₦49.44bn, leaving no external bid ahead of reclassification.

Events to Watch — Next Week

Date	Event Type	Details & Why It Matters
02 Sep 2026	FTSE Frontier Index Series indicative review files begin publication	First hard read on Nigerian constituent weights and implied passive demand; banking large caps likely most exposed to any upward revision.
21 Sep 2026	Nigeria reclassification to FTSE Frontier Market takes effect at market open	Index-tracker execution date; failure of foreign participation to exceed the 5.60% July base would indicate the move was driven by domestic positioning rather than international flows.
21-22 Sep 2026	CBN MPC meeting	Any signal of easing from 26.5% would compress OMO rates and slow the fixed-income rotation currently drawing liquidity from equities. The meeting overlaps the 21 Sep reclassification date, concentrating both catalysts in the same session.
